Tito Seeking End To Plane Flights Over Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Sept. 3 (AP)—Belgrade newspapers printed today a note which the Yugoslav government delivered to the U. S. state department at Washington Aug. 30 asking for a guarantee that no more American planes would fly over Yugoslavia and citing new instances of such flights.

The note asked the United States to "reply what it had undertaken to put an end to unauthorized and deliberate flights over Yugoslav territory on the part of American military and civilian planes and what guarantees it can give that this will not be repeated."

The note said that no "necessary or satisfactory reply" had been received to Yugoslav notes delivered to the United States on Aug. 10 and 19.

Two American army transport planes were forced down by gunfire from Yugoslav fighters on Aug. 9 and 19. Nearly two weeks after the first incident, nine of the 10 occupants of the first American plane were released after the United States government had issued an ultimatum. The coffins of five Americans who had crashed in the second plane were delivered to the Americans at the Morgan line. Those killed included Capt. Blen H. Prestone of Springdale, Ida.

Premier-Marshal Tito had ordered the release of nine of the occupants of the first plane and had given "strict orders" that no more foreign planes be shot down prior to his formal receipt of the American ultimatum. Subsequently the state department at Washington announced the Yugoslav government had complied with the ultimatum.

The new Yugoslav note, listing numerous flights of United States planes over Yugoslav territory since Aug. 19, declared these "can no longer be tolerated."

The United States has asked compensation and indemnities for the loss of the two transports, but

News Confab On Yugoslavs Is Postponed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The state department today canceled a news conference at which Undersecretary William L. Clayton had intended to discuss developments in the dispute with Yugoslavia over the forced crashes of two American planes.

Clayton's conference was called off suddenly after he had been summoned to the White House for an 11 a. m. conference with President Truman. Clayton is acting secretary of state in the absences of Secretary Byrnes and Undersecretary Dean Acheson.

Situation Good

Government officials said yesterday the situation appeared headed for a diplomatically satisfactory conclusion. It has developed that there were two recent dispatches from Belgrade.

The first of these said the U. S. embassy had received a new note Sunday from Marshal Tito which "roughly meets" American demands for an official apology and assurances that the plane incident—which cost five American lives—would not recur.

Note Received

Later Belgrade reports said the Yugoslav embassy in Washington had delivered a note at the state department Friday. The embassy here confirmed this. This note asked for a guarantee that no more American planes would fly over Yugoslavia without permission, and added that the Yugoslav government could not bear "any responsibility" for the two crashes.

Earlier, department officials had told newsmen it is "good speculation" that the first Belgrade dispatch—saying American demands had virtually been fulfilled—is correct.

Such an ending, officials said, might have the additional effect of lessening the current tension between the United States and Russia.

Woman Starting 3,000 Mile Trip In 38-Foot Boat

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Mrs. Constance Hitchcock, San Francisco newspaperwoman, was en route here today from Honolulu in her 38-foot ketch Makai with a two-man crew.

They expected to make the 3,000-mile trip in 40 days by sail, veering about 1,000 miles north of the Hawaiian islands to hit the prevailing westerly winds.

Mrs. Hitchcock and her daughter, Mrs. Juna Jeffers, and Eric Johnson, San Francisco newspaperman, sailed to Honolulu from Santa Barbara last June in 29 days.

Mrs. Jeffers returned to her home in northern California last month, her place in the crew being taken by Lieut.-Col. William Warner, Honolulu.

Pioneer Will Vote On Denver, Pueblo

POCATELLO, Sept. 3 (AP)—A special meeting of the Pioneer baseball league has been called for 10 a. m. Sept. 15 at Salt Lake City to consider a proposal that the league be expanded to include Denver and Pueblo, Colo.

President Jack Halliwell said Charles Boettcher III and Will S. Nicholson of Denver and Neal Hobbs of Pueblo will be in attendance.

Trials Urged On Yugoslavs For Shooting

BOSTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—A demand that the Yugoslavs who shot down American airliners be brought to trial before an international tribunal has been drafted by the powerful resolutions committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, it was learned today.

James M. Hayes, Jr., 38-year-old former marine from Winston-Salem, N. C., said the committee which he heads would send the resolution to the convention floor with "unanimous endorsement."

Reparations Asked

In addition to demanding that the "perpetrators of this crime" be brought to trial, the resolution called upon the United States government to obtain full reparations for the families of the airmen who were killed.

The shadow of the troubled international situation hung heavy over the encampment as several of the nation's top military leaders said solemnly that the path to peace lay in a strong national defense.

Urge Strength

Just a year after Japan's surrender, all other issues—even the acute housing shortage—appeared pushed aside temporarily as a parade of wartime leaders from Washington sounded a strikingly similar theme that the United States must be kept strong.

Delegates — thousands of them only a few months out of uniform — heard a marine commander, Maj.-Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle, bluntly assert:

"The dream of the bright and shining future we fought to win for ourselves and our children is disturbed by menacing omens . . . the one defense and the only defense against a third world war over American soil is men and steel."

Russia Defeated Japan, Reds Declare in Observing V-J Day

MOSCOW, Sept. 3 (AP)—The official newspaper Pravda accused the United States today of stripping Japan and also of seeking to regain Japanese territory into an American-ruled "watchdog against the peoples of the far east."

The comments were part of Russia's observance of her V-J day. From Prime Minister Stalin down, no official or press mention was made of the American or British contribution to the defeat of Japan. Nor was there mention of the atomic bomb, two of which exploded at Hiroshima and Nagasaki in the last days of the Oriental phase of the war.

Russia declared war on Japan on Aug. 8, 1945, and Japan surrendered Sept. 2 after being at war with the United States since Dec. 7, 1941.

Pravda and other Russian newspapers took the line that Japan still was dangerously strong and would have fought for years had not Russia entered the war.

Stalin's order of the day addressed to the armed forces and the "toiling masses of the Soviet Union" asserted:

"One year ago today, the Soviet people and their armed forces victoriously finished the war against imperialist Japan. Japan signed an act of unconditional surrender. The Soviet people and their armed forces upheld this victory and with this victory rendered an enormous contribution to the cause of achieving peace in the whole world"

Pravda, mouthpiece of the ruling communist party, said:

"Disregarding the experience of history, American imperialists count on the rebirth of Japan—but a Japan subjected to American rule in the capacity of a watchdog against the peoples of the far east."

The article asserted that the United States, without waiting for a decision by the allies on reparations, was stripping Japan of industrial equipment, gold, diamonds and large shipments of "strategic war materials." No mention was made of any Russian seizures of industrial equipment in Manchuria.)

Death, Destruction Ride Highways Again

Scenes such as this dotted Magic Valley Tuesday as traffic deaths mounted to 30 and injury and destruction lay in the wake of highway crashes. At left is the battered vehicle in which Mrs. Maude Taff, 54, Nebraska, sustained knee lacerations when the car, driven by Daisey C. Keen, 45, also of Nebraska, collided with a truck Sunday afternoon east of Kimberly. At right is the 1926 sedan in which H. L. Walter, 73, Buhl school teacher, received fatal injuries Tuesday morning near Filer. (Staff photo-engraving)

Russians Rap U. S. Note on Trade Treaty

MOSCOW, Sept. 3 (AP)—Russia has rejected American expression of concern relative to bilateral Soviet-Swedish trade negotiations in a note in which the official Russian news agency said the United States was told, in effect, to mind its own business.

Tass, the Russian news agency, announced the rejection last night and quoted the note of rejection as saying that the "Soviet government—and it may be assumed the government of Sweden—are not in need of consultation with the United States government on the question of the advantage or disadvantage they will reap from trade agreements."

Note Rejected

(Sweden, in effect, rejected the U. S. note—in which the hope was expressed in a "mutual aid agreement concluded between the United States and Russia in 1942"—when her foreign office announced last Saturday that a Swedish delegation would leave for Moscow tomorrow to resume negotiations on a proposed five-year agreement with Russia.

(Informed officials in Washington said a second note might be dispatched to Moscow and Stockholm, but that no decision had been reached. The principal U. S. suggestion to both nations in the first expression was that both governments conclude long-term bilateral credit trade agreements with other countries on supplying them directly or through the Export-Import bank with long-term credits for the purchase of American goods.

"In this connection, the United States government's interpretation of the proposed trade agreement between the Soviet Union and Sweden would be understood only as an attempt at interference on the part of the United States in trade negotiations between two independent states."

U.S. Warned Against Powers for Military

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Donald M. Nelson hoisted a warning today for the nation to be on guard, "not only in war but in peace," against widening military influence.

In his book, "Arsenal of Democracy," to be published this week, the former war production board chairman declares that the army largely "took control" of the civilian economy in 1944 after trying throughout the war to wrest that authority from him.

Henceforth, Nelson wrote, the army will cease to be a neglected step-child in peacetime and will become "one of the most important and influential branches of our government."

"The lesson taught by these recent years of war is clear," he continued, "our whole economic and social system will be in peril if it is controlled by the military men."

Crisis 'Phoney'

Nelson took note of the widely advertised "production crisis" of 1944, declaring that it was spurious but served to "divert attention from the army's own miscalculations."

"The record shows," he wrote, "that in not a single instance—after the critical early period of 1942—did an American fighting man at the front have to go without munitions because of any failure in production.

"The army's deliberate attempt to create a contrary impression was one of the most dangerous bits of double talk I ever heard of."

Nelson contended that the heads of the army and navy joined with James F. Byrnes, then war mobilization director, to remove him as WPB chairman in 1943 and replace him with Bernard M. Baruch.

Attempt Thwarted

The attempt was thwarted, Nelson said, when he got wind of the plan and promptly dismissed Ferdinand Eberstadt, a WPB vice-chairman who favored the army's view and who was to have become Baruch's deputy.

Collaborating in the ouster efforts, Nelson wrote, were Secretary of War Stimson, the late Secretary of the Navy Knox and the then Undersecretaries Robert P. Patterson and James V. Forrestal. They had drawn a letter naming Baruch as Nelson's successor and they planned to ask Mr. Roosevelt to sign it "that very day," Nelson said.

There was no immediate comment from any of those Nelson named.

General Raps Warning Over Armed Forces

BOSTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today struck back at Donald M. Nelson's assertion that the army "tried to get control of our national economy" and declared:

"The army wants no domination over anything but its own affairs. It wants no domination of government . . . no domination of civil authority."

Eisenhower, in Boston to attend the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said that he had not seen Nelson's accusations, which were published in a book, "Arsenal of Democracy," written by the former war production board chairman.

The army chief of staff told newsmen, however, that "anyone who makes such a statement is completely wide of fact."

"I don't see," said Eisenhower, "why we should accuse people who risked all to preserve our system, of wanting to destroy it in time of peace."

Eisenhower said that he knew it was the conviction of the secretary of war and other top military leaders including himself to "live true to that patriotic tradition that men in uniform since 1775 have gone out and died for the principles of democracy."

"Among those principles," he said, "is the basic tenet that civilian authority is supreme in this country."

Deadline Set on Minidoka Hunt

BOISE, Sept. 3 (AP) — Director James O. Beck of the state fish and game department today reminded hunters that September 12 is the deadline for filing applications for permits to take part in three deer hunts on the Minidoka national forest.

Beck said only about 1,100 applications had been made for the 3,250 permits to be granted for a hunt September 27 to October 6 on the Cassia division of the forest.

Considerably fewer applications have been made for hunts Oct. 13 to 20 on the Albion, Sublett and Black Pine division. There will be 400 permits issued for the Albion division and a combined total of 400 for the Sublett and Black Pine districts.

Vets' Survivors Get New Benefits

BOISE, Sept. 3 (AP)—Survivors of Idaho World war II veterans who died from non-military service causes will benefit immediately through monthly payments from a recent amendment to the social security act, Manager J. F. Mellinger of the Boise federal security administratio noffice said today.

He estimated that 150 Idaho veterans died prior to Aug. 10 effective date of the revision, from causes not connected with military duty.

However veterans' dependents who receive compensation or pensions from the veterans administration will not be entitled to payment under the social security act, Mellinger said.

BUCKER

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 3 — A bucking motorcycle had three Oakland policemen on the injured list today.

Officer Herbert Soares, 28, swung a leg over the cycle and kicked the starter. He didn't know the machine was in gear. It knocked him down, rocketed up the station steps, bowling over Martin Mission, and crashed through a door, flooring Harold Sherbourne.

SALVAGE

DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 3—Because their boss was foxier, two Danville garbage department drivers picked up $5 they didn't know they had.

Drivers John Criner and Elmer Wood were dumping a dead fox into an incinerator when Superintendent Frank Coburn salvaged the animal, which had been struck by an automobile.

Coburn collected a $5 bounty on the pelt, and gave the money to the red-faced drivers.

1,800 Discharges

More than 1,800 discharges have been recorded since Jan. 1, this year, Charles A. Bulles, county recorder, announced Thursday.

The number of discharge recordings, which had fallen off in recent months, has picked up sharply since the passage of the bill authorizing terminal leave pay for enlisted personnel.

Teacher, 73, Killed As Accidents Take Three Added Lives

Magic Valley 1946 traffic deaths mounted Tuesday to the devastating total of 30, with two more highway fatalities in Twin Falls county and a third death in Cassia county.

Henry L. Walter, 73, Filer, chemistry and physics instructor at Buhl high school, succumbed at 10:35 a. m. Tuesday at the Twin Falls county general hospital from internal injuries received when his car overturned on the Crystal springs road northwest of Filer, pinning him beneath it, following a collision with another machine at 8 o'clock that morning.

Paul J. Bolster, 21, 350 Fourth avenue west, Twin Falls, died at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday at the Twin Falls county general hospital from a brain concussion, shock and other injuries received when the stalled car upon which he was working was struck by another machine early Sunday morning northwest of Kimberly.

Victim of the Cassia county accident was John Reynolds, 35, Torrence, Calif., who died when he dozed at the wheel early Tuesday east of Oakley.

While investigation of these fatal crashes is continuing, an inquest into the death of Jay Hiram Brazie, 44, route 1, Filer, been called for 4 p. m. today by Coroner J. O. Pumphrey. Mr. Brazie died Saturday from injuries received Friday when he was struck by a gravel truck driven by Ivyn Sandau, 35, Twin Falls, while he was waiting for a bus near Filer.

Investigation showed that the truck had been forced from the road by a pick-up truck driven by Carl Owsley, 22, Hagerman.

On County Road

According to Deputy Sheriff Ed R. Hall, who investigated the accident which claimed Mr. Walter's life, the crash occurred on a secondary county road two miles west and a mile north of Deadman's corner north of Filer.

Driver of the other machine, a 1937 sedan, was Mrs. Margaret Stroud, 42, Filer, teacher at Union school near Curry. Mrs. Stroud was [illegible] Mr. Walter's [illegible] operation [illegible] into the [illegible]

The Walter machine, a 1936 sedan, over-turned and completely collapsed, pinning the elderly man beneath. Mrs. Stroud escaped unhurt when rescuers lifted the car from him, and he was then rushed to the hospital by an Albertson funeral home ambulance where he died slightly more than two hours later.

Minor Injuries

The Stroud car, which went into the ditch to the right of the road, then did an over-turn, was badly damaged. Mrs. Stroud escaped with minor bruises and a nose injury, for which she was treated at a physician's office.

Mr. Bolster had been in critical condition at the county hospital since he was injured at 4 a. m. Sunday when a car driven by Ray Mc-

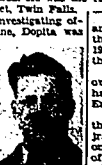
Twin Falls War Vet Dies In Motorcycle-Car Crash

WINNEMUCCA, Nev., Sept. 3—Louis R. Dopita, 27, a former resident of Twin Falls, was instantly killed when his motorcycle collided head-on with an automobile at 9 p. m. Saturday on U. S. highway 40 about five miles west of Golconda. He was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dopita, 225 Ash street, Twin Falls.

As nearly as the investigating officers could determine, Dopita was killed at the moment of impact, suffering a skull fracture, broken right arm, broken right leg, broken left shoulder and accident - amputated left leg, according to Coroner Pat Devine of Humboldt county.



Dopita

An inquest on the case was to be held today in Winnemucca.

The discharged veteran of five years army service with the 116th engineers was returning to his home here after spending four days visiting friends and his parents in Twin Falls and Buhl.

He had been working in mines near Mountain City, Nev., since his release from the army 13 months ago.

Born Sept. 27, 1918, at Plainville, Kan., Mr. Dopita moved to Idaho with his parents in 1926, was raised on a farm near Buhl. He graduated from Deep creek school near Buhl and assisted his father on the farm there before entering the service in 1940, when he was called along with the rest of the Idaho national guard.

He spent three and one-half years overseas as a soldier—two and one-half in the Aleutian islands, one in England and France.

Survivors include his parents, three brothers, Fred James Charles, jr. and Dale Richard Dopita, and one sister, Mrs. Ralph Winter, all of Twin Falls.

The body is at the Eddy mortuary here, will be shipped to Twin Falls for the funeral.

Taylor Avers Sugar Supply Still Critical

POCATELLO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Sen. Glen Taylor reported here that although Idaho may have a surplus of sugar, there is still a definite scarcity in the nation as a whole.

He made the statement in response to an appeal from E. W. Taylor of Coeur d'Alene, master of the [illegible] grange, for the senator's [illegible] ting sugar rations [illegible] ar [illegible] as well as for [illegible] canning.

Taylor wired the senator that "thousands of tons of the finest fruit are going to waste because sugar cannot be bought by housewives for canning. This situation is criminal and demands attention at once."

Taylor replied in a telegram to the Grange master:

"There is no surplus sugar in the nation as a whole. Rather, there is a scarcity. If any huge sugar surpluses are stored in Idaho it is unknown to me. In the east sugar can hardly be obtained for table use. Sad situation, but sugar shortage is an inevitable result of this war."

NEW STAMP VALID

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — Housewives had another sugar ration stamp available today, spare stamp 31 which became valid on Sunday and will be good for five pounds of sugar through Oct. 31.

OPA announced also that Stamp 43, also in ration book number four, had been extended to Sept. 30. It was to have expired last Saturday, but the sugar shortage was so acute in many cities that consumers were unable to cash it.

Agriculture department officials have predicted the possibility of an improvement in sugar rations after the first of the year, depending on Cuban crop prospects.

Meanwhile the department has made arrangements for beet sugar, now accumulating in western producing areas, to get preferential freight treatment so that it may be brought to eastern consuming areas.

IMPORTANT SPEECH

PARIS, Sept. 3 (AP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes will fly to Stuttgart, Germany, Friday to deliver what is expected to be an important speech on United States policy in Germany and possibly about world affairs in general, it was learned tonight.

Military Men Okay Cuts in Italy Forces

PARIS, Sept. 3 (AP)—"Big four" recommendations that the Italian army, navy and air force be limited to 207,200 men—only a fraction of wartime strength—were approved unanimously today by the military commission of the 21-nation peace conference.

Under the approved provisions, Italy is permitted to have an army of 250,000 (including 65,000 carabinieri), a navy of 22,500 and an air force of 25,000.

No Carriers

She is barred from possession of aircraft carriers and her land air force is restricted to 200 fighter and reconnaissance planes with an additional 150 transport and training planes.

The military commission accepted the foreign ministers' draft setting the number of carabinieri (state police) at 65,000 after Yugoslavia withdrew an amendment to limit the force to 30,000.

Under the military commission adopted all but one of the naval limitation articles drafted by the foreign ministers council, including one on Italian possession of aircraft carriers and submarines.

Approval Delayed

Approval of "big four" recommendations to limit the Italian fleet to two battleships, four cruisers and four destroyers and restrictions on other military vessels was delayed pending study of a French amendment to qualify the wording of the treaty.

The French proposal did not seek to change the number of ships.

Yugoslav Delegate Alex Bebler answered Italian claims for Trieste with a counter-claim for a greater share of Venezia Giulia and accused Ivanoe Bonomi, former Italian premier, of expressing "ruthless, heartless cynicism" in his speech yesterday.

FDR Pinned Hopes for Peace On Success of United Nations

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (UP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt believed that a third world war was inevitable if the United Nations failed and if Europe continued to cling to imperialism, the late President's son, Elliott Roosevelt, disclosed today.

"Backward, depressed colonial areas of the world" should be given economic and social assistance and eventually be freed through an international organization led by the great powers, Mr. Roosevelt told his son.

"If this isn't done, we might as well agree that we're in for another war," he said.

The late President's views on the future and hitherto unrevealed secret promises and agreements made at the Casablanca conference were disclosed in an article in Look magazine, taken from Elliott Roosevelt's book, "As He Saw It," to be published in October.

Elliott wrote that he sat by his father's bed in Casablanca, while he was dictating the conference in January, 1943, and heard for the first time about the United Nations.

Mr. Roosevelt told his son that France should be restored to a world power, but that she should be given only a trusteeship over her former colonies, reporting eventually. The younger Roosevelt asked to whom France would report, and later wrote:

"The organization of the United Nations, when it's set up," father replied. It was the first time I'd ever heard of this plan.

"Here chapter two went on. 'The big four—ourselves, Britain, China, the Soviet Union—will be responsible for the peace of the world when we've won the war.'

3 Psychiatrists Call Slayer Sane

CHICAGO, Sept. 3 (AP) — Three psychiatrists informed the state's attorney today they found William Heirens, 17-year-old triple slayer, was not suffering from any psychosis and was able to cooperate rationally with defense counsel.

The report on several weeks of mental tests administered by Drs. Foster Kennedy of Cornell university and William Haines and Harry Hoffman of Chicago was delivered today to State's Attorney William J. Tuohy and the youth's counsel.

Idaho's Deaf Elect at 1946 Gooding Meet

GOODING, Sept. 3—Sixty persons attended the three-day meeting here of the Idaho Association of the Deaf over the week-end. It was the first meeting since the war. Floyd Brower, Pocatello, was convention chairman.

The association voted to continue awarding a plaque to the outstanding student in the State school each year. Made of hardwood with a bronze plate, the plaque was awarded in 1945 to Thelma Lea Carr, Caldwell, and in 1946 to Ina June Doyle, Victor.

Opening session of the conclave was held in the State school auditorium. Supt. Burton W. Driggs gave the invocation and Dr. F. E. Barrett, Gooding mayor, welcomed the group. Interpreters were Mrs. Loyce Melton and Driggs.

The Rev. Carlton Moore, pastor of the Christian church here, delivered the address as a banquet Saturday night in the church. Labor day was devoted to business sessions and a picnic.

Officers reelected are Don Pettingill, Orofino, president; Mrs. Evelyn Hansen, Pocatello, first vice-president; Raymond Netz, Jerome, second vice-president; Brower, Pocatello, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Josephine Benson, American Falls, auditor.

Sergeant-at-arms include Owen Smith, Boise; Arthur Netz, George Carter and Delbert Robinson, Pocatello.

Convention chairmen included Mrs. Evelyn Pettingill, banquet; Mrs. Benson, picnic; Elmer Talbert, award of merit, and Pettingill, amendment.

The 1947 meeting will be in Boise on Labor day.

Traffic Fines Total Climbs

Traffic fines produced by motorists over the Labor day week-end at the Twin Falls city police station had today mounted to a sizable sum.

Posting $5 bonds each on stop sign violation charges were Elbert R. Curtis, James R. Lester and Charles J. Johnston.

Henry L. MacDonald was fined $2 for passing at an intersection; while Kenneth Taylor, Leo Williams and Hamilton L. Garner paid $2 each for improper parking. Fred Butler paid $3 each on three improper parking tickets.

Receiving more than one ticket for overtime parking in metered spaces at the rate of $1 per tag were William R. Cooper, four tickets; Ira G. White, three tickets; and Kenneth Hamby, two tickets.

Paying $1 each were: J. A. Sinclair, Gerald Howard, R. O. Crane, R. B. Sims, C. Walter, Leon Henderson, Teresa Thorp, Robert Setz, H. C. Nelson, Pearl N. Henry, Dorothy Swope, V. A. Gunter, W. H. Vaughn, Ralph Taylor, E. M. Guest, James R. Hayden and A. Stevens.

Elko Race and Fair Termed Successful

The Elko county fair and race meet, held Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1 and 2, was the most successful ever held at Elko in attendance and quality of exhibits, W. J. Hollenbeck stated Tuesday on his return.

Hollenbeck, who was the official announcer for the event, said that the seven daily races drew a capacity crowd. The Twin Falls county sheriff's mounted posse, he reported, drew high applause.

The Hospital

Emergency beds only were available at the Twin Falls county general hospital on Tuesday.

ADMITTED

Ursel A. Hale, Mrs. Virgil Catron, Mrs. C. R. Shipman and Mrs. Jerome Olk, Twin Falls; Lawrence Howard, Mrs. Edwin Sessions, Mrs. J. R. Crawford, Buhl.

DISMISSED

Mrs. Kenneth Ballenger, Mrs. H. P. Gorski, Mrs. L. H. Ellerman, Mrs. Karl Freeman, Twin Falls.

Auto Hits Pony-Girl Tossed 15 Feet Onto Roof

SHOSHONE, Sept. 3 — Although Wanda Cole, Shoshone, was tossed 15 feet in the air when a sedan driven by Mrs. Jake Jones, Shoshone, struck her pony as she rode north on U. S. highway 93 a mile north of here Tuesday evening, she escaped injury after landing on the roof of the car.

The high school girl, daughter of and Mrs. Marvin Cole, was riding her racing pony to its stable near here when the accident happened. Because the animal's right hind leg was broken just above the hock, the horse was shot.

The girl had received the pony as a birthday present about three weeks ago and took part in the county fair parade Monday morning as a member of the Riding Redskins, local horse-lovers club.

Damage to the sedan, driven by Mrs. Jones, was done the car, according to Sheriff Earl Clayton, investigating officer.

GOODING GIRL HIT

GOODING, Sept. 3—Frances M. Snoderly, 16, Gooding, received a badly cut leg and bruised head Sunday night when the horse she was riding was struck by a passing car on highway 25 two and three-quarters miles north of here.

Driver of the car, Fred Stumpp, 16, Jerome, told Sheriff Fred S. Craig that he dimmed his lights to meet an oncoming car and when he turned them on bright again the horse appeared in front of him.

The horse's leg was injured. Passengers in the Stumpp car included Earl Netz and Vernon Thrall, both of Jerome; Elsie Smith, Gooding, and Maxine Bolden, guest of Miss Smith.

For the first time, Twin Falls and Magic Valley air enthusiasts will now find it unnecessary to wait for CAA examiners' monthly inspections before final completion of training.

CAA Inspectors A. G. Witter, John Clark and Bob Bockwell, on their monthly visit to the Twin Falls airport, granted permanent designation as aircraft inspector to Chuck Jenkinson, and commercial flight examiner rating to Paul Fuller. With these two designations, Magic Valley aircraft now has all the necessary designations for the relicensing and maintenance of aircraft, and the licensing of pilots for student, private or commercial ratings.

The Twin Falls flyers recently purchased an Procope Woodcock which really happened to Nine Mile hatches on it?

Dick Walls passed his private written and will soon take his private flight test.

Duke Hall and Al Huff recently soloed in Aeronca. They're also students of Magic Valley Aircraft.

Bill Moore's Fairchild PT-10 has just been relicensed.

John C. Jones is receiving his aircraft training for aircraft license from Magic Valley Aircraft under the veterans administration.

Sunday activity at the Twin Falls airport was high with an unusual amount of students and sight-seeing flights over the city. The following sent planes on the search for the two missing airmen from Boise: 6ft Flying club, Twin Falls Flyers, Harry Harris, Magic Valley Aircraft, Elmer Hoffman.

Denny Hogue's new Globe Swift purchased from Harry Clark of Nampa was delivered Sunday. It's powered with 125 h.p. Continental motor; cruises at 140 m.p.h. at 2,450 RPM.

Weed Identified As "Nightshade"

A new weed brought into the bureau of noxious weeds for identification is blue nightshade, J. N. Grimes announced Tuesday.

The plant, bearing a small green berry that turns blue or black when ripe, is poisonous, he said. The plant has a small yellow-white flower, wavy-edged and heart shaped leaves. It may be further identified by a five pointed green collar in which each berry rests.

Nightshade, common from Canada to Mexico, in different varieties, is a seed-bearing plant that will not survive cultivation.

Carthy, 22, Burley, struck the Bolster car, hurling the youth 20 feet.

He had gotten out of the machine and was standing on the left side working on the carburetor of the car, which was parked to the right of the highway, according to investigating county authorities.

—Inquest Possible

Investigation was being conducted into the fatal crash Tuesday to determine whether or not an inquest will be called.

Tuesday's two traffic deaths in Twin Falls county bring the total for this county alone to 10—one third of the total for the entire Magic Valley.

Traffic deaths of 1945 there were 27 highway deaths in Magic Valley; while on the preceding year fatalities from this cause reached 24.

Following are county totals to date:

Twin Falls county	10
Cassia county	6
Jerome county	5
Lincoln county	5
Gooding county	3
Minidoka county	1

Death Scene Shifts

The spectre of death, which rode the highways near Kimberly during the week of August 18, seemed to turn from the east to the west end of the county as the month drew to a close.

Mr. Brazle's death Aug. 31 was closely followed by that of Mr. Walter Tuesday. During the week of Aug. 18, the east end was the scene of two tragedies in rapid succession when Mrs. Martha A. Sorensen, 80, Twin Falls, was killed in a crash one mile west of Kimberly on the night of Aug. 22, followed by the death of Madolynne Christensen, 16, Murtaugh, in a train-truck crash on the following evening in Kimberly.

Manslaughter charges were filed as aftermath of both these accidents, against Norman Demer, Murtaugh, driver of the truck which struck the train; and against Wilford Elroy Thieme, 20, Kimberly, driver of the sedan which came out of a side road and struck the car in which Mrs. Sorensen was riding with her brother, Smith Rosen, route two, Twin Falls.

Denied Guilt

On Aug. 27, Thieme appeared before Justice Dennis Smith at Kimberly and pleaded not guilty to the involuntary manslaughter charge. He requested a preliminary hearing through his attorney, E. L. Rayborn, and the date for this is to set. Thieme's bond, set at $2,500, was provided by John P. Kelly and Fred Thieme.

Mr. Walter was born Jan. 10, 1873, in Pine River, Wis. He had resided in Filer for the past seven years moving there from Twin Falls and had been a teacher of chemistry and physics at the Buhl high school for the past four years.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Mildred H. Walter, Filer, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. R. C. JeanBlanc, Sitka, Alaska; a brother, August Walter, Campbell, Minn., and a sister, Mrs. Minnie Wilson, Appleton, Wis. He was preceded in death by a son, Nathan Walter, in 1939.

Interment will be in the Sunset memorial park and arrangements for funeral will be announced later. The family requests no flowers. The body is at the White mortuary.

Mr. Bolster was born in Summers, Mont., on Dec. 1, 1924 and had been a resident of Twin Falls for the past five years. He was an employe of the Charter Seed company in Twin Falls and was a veteran of World war II.

Besides his mother, Mrs. Mable Holmgren, Twin Falls, Mr. Bolster is survived by three brothers, Raymond E. Bolster, Seattle; John H. Bolster, Victor E. Bolster, both of Twin Falls; one half-brother, Dewey Holmgren, Twin Falls; two sisters, Mrs. Lucile Denney, Murtaugh, and Mary Bolster, Twin Falls; two half-sisters, Mable and Minnie Holmgren, Twin Falls; paternal grandmother, Mrs. LaClair Bolster, Kallspell, Mont., and maternal grandfather, James Minster, Twin Falls.

The body is at the Twin Falls mortuary pending funeral arrangements.

TROUBLES

JACKSON, Minn., Sept. 3 (AP)—For years E. H. Nicholas, Jackson county attorney, has been trying to get some one to cut down the 60-year-old cottonwood tree that towered above his home.

A strong wind came along and toppled the tree. But Nicholas now is having trouble getting the uprooted tree removed from in front of his home.

the now note said the Yugoslav government "cannot bear any responsability for this."

The note said that the two army transports and "many before them flew deep into Yugoslav territory" without being forced to do so by weather conditions.

The note said that "however much the death of the victims is regrettable owing to the tragic end of the plane which occurred Aug. 10 this year, the government of Yugoslavia cannot bear any responsibility for this because on its part it has done all in order to avoid such cases which occurred and which can very easily occur on a frontier where our army, as in every independent country, has a task to guard the inviolability of its territory and the sovereignty of its country."

4 Hailey Men File for Back Mine Royalty

HAILEY, Sept. 3—Failure of the Casino Mining and Milling company to pay them royalties as agreed in an original lease, is charged in a complaint filed in fourth judicial district court by R. J. Ditter, Lester T. Ditter, Ed Snider, Alfred Donovan and their wives.

The plaintiffs ask that the Casino company, a corporation with principal offices in Yakima, Wash. be required to account for all sums received from the proceeds of ore shipped and that the court appoint a receiver to determine values of the proceeds.

It is pointed out in the complaint that the defendant has shipped some 23 carloads of ore to the smelter under this lease. The plaintiffs further charge that the company has received in excess of $20,000 from the federal government for the ore.

The claims covered by the lease are the Marrs Mack, Tecumseh, Homestake, Minnehaha, Pocahantas, Manitou and Chinook Lode mining claims, located in Warm Springs mining district.

Red Leaders Attacked by Burley Solon

HAGERMAN, Sept. 3 — Denouncing the leaders of Soviet Russia as "uncooperative," Rep. Henry C. Dworshak, Burley, was featured speaker at the Labor day watermelon bust sponsored by the American Legion here.

"The common people of Russia don't want war," said Dworshak, who maintained that "we must work on our form of government to keep individual attitudes and to combat the communist influence."

An estimated 2,000 persons attended the event, and Legionnaires said that six tons of watermelons were distributed to the holiday throng.

Rodeo crowds were thrilled when Jimmy Fenstermaker, Wendell, competing in the bronc-riding event, caught his foot in a stirrup and was thrown, dragged and kicked. He was given emergency treatment at St. Valentine's hospital, Wendell, and released.

A morning parade started the festivities, and in the afternoon the Jerome county sheriff's posse, headed by Wirt Wilson, gave a drill with 25 participants and staged a stake race.

Rodeo winners were:

Bareback — Arlo Jolley, Burley, first; Dean Robeson, Burley, second.

Bronc riding—Dean Robeson, Burley, first; Jimmy Fenstermaker, Wendell, second.

Calf roping—Howard Robeson, Burley, first; Henry Radermacher, Hagerman, second.

A dance at Legion hall concluded evening safely.

L. C. Howard Promoted by City Council

Despite the Labor day holiday, it was business as usual for the Twin Falls city commissioners who transacted regular weekly business during last night's session.

The meeting was recessed by Mayor Bert A. Sweet until tonight when commissioners will reconvene to pass on monthly bills which were not ready because of the double-holiday.

Four resignations, two appointments and two promotions were acted upon by the council in the ranks of city employes. Resignations accepted were those of Jack D. Waddell as assistant caretaker at the ball park, Margaret Waite as playground supervisor, and O. C. McNeal as fireman and Duane Adams as first assistant fire chief.

Assistant Chiefs

Earl McAdams was appointed fireman, and W. A. Farris was named caretaker at the municipal golf course. The council approved action moving Laurel C. Howard from second assistant to first assistant fire chief and promoting Elza Freelove from fireman to second assistant chief.

Adopted by the commissioners was a resolution fixing $10 and $5 as the fees to be paid by taxi concerns for one and two-hour parking stalls, respectively, per month. During the discussion of parking meter problems, Police Chief Howard Gillette reported progress in "the battle of the meters," and that the motoring public is gradually becoming accustomed to their operation.

Also adopted was a resolution providing for notice of a public hearing to be conducted at 7:30 p. m. Sept. 23 on proposal to bring the south half of block 69, recently purchased by Sears, Roebuck and company, into the business district.

Dam Program

Read during the meeting was formal notice of temporary suspension of Empire Air Lines, Inc., service to Twin Falls; and a letter was presented from the federal power commission that the Idaho Power company has filed application for amendment of its license for water power project 457 on Snake river in Twin Falls and Gooding counties. This application proposes completion of development of the lower Salmon falls power site by constructing a concrete dam 40 feet high 50 feet downstream from the existing temporary dam, as well as a reinforced concrete power house with installation of four 15,000 kilowatt generator units.

Any comments on this by the city or others are requested by the commission by Oct. 5.

Auditor Clyde Koonts reported that he had reviewed receipts, revenues and expenditures for May, June and July, and that all had been correctly accounted for and recorded.

Fire Chief J. S. Gibb reported 14 fire alarms during August and that he inspected building in the business and mercantile and warehouse districts, as well as schools. Five complaints were investigated. Police Judge J. C. Humphrey reported that bonds, finds and cost collected during August totaled $1,574.50.

9-Foot Gas Model Plane Cracks up

Frank Tidwell's big red model plane cracked up Monday in a practice flight behind Jaycee field. The gas-propelled model airplane with a nine-foot wingspread, which recently appeared in an Idaho Power window display, fell to the ground as Tidwell tried to maneuver the U-control wires with which he was guiding it from the ground.

At the regular weekly meeting of 20 members of the Gas Bugs model plane club in Magic Valley jobbing and sales offices Monday night, members passed several new by-laws, limited charter membership to 35.

More try-outs of the flying models will be held next Sunday in anticipation of their exhibit at Filer county fair.

Sanborn Declines Debate on CVA

JEROME, Sept. 3—John Sanborn, Hagerman, Republican candidate for congressman from this district, has declined to debate the CVA question here with his Democratic opponent, Pete Leguineche, Boise.

Sanborn said "the topic is not debatable," in notifying Mrs. Leon Aslett, secretary of the Jerome county Pomona Grange, he would not debate Leguineche this month as the Grange had requested.

"Little can be accomplished in a political debate," Sanborn explained. "The audience usually is highly partisan, and each side is anxious to back his champion."

Leguineche, however, will address Young Democrats at an open meeting at the Jerome count courthouse here at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 4.

PIN-WORM MYSTERY ENDED
Pin-Worms have been causing trouble for centuries, and millions of victims have desperately sought a way to deal with this pest that lives inside a human body.
Science has at last solved the problem!
It is now also known that Pin-Worm infection spreads rapidly and can cause real distress if neglected. So beware of that aggravating rectal itch, and act fast. Ask your druggist for JAYNE'S P-W at the first sign of Pin-Worms. P-W is a medically sound treatment based on an officially approved dose principle. The easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms gently and safely.

What you'll need for your Kings Canyon holiday

Pack a set of scales to weigh the king-size beauties you'll fish for in Kings Canyon National Park. You may even hook a rare Golden Trout up in the headwaters. But this is high Sierra country, so you'll want to go on Chevron Supreme Gasoline.

Each thousand feet your car climbs, lower air pressure lets gasoline vaporize more easily. So, to prevent vapor-lock in high country, you need a gasoline like Chevron Supreme that's tailored to fit each different altitude zone in the West.

Whether you're topping a high pass or skimming along the seashore, you get a Chevron Supreme Gasoline that exactly suits the country you're driving through. And, wherever you drive, Chevron Credit Cards are good as gold for car supplies.

UNCOMPROMISING PROSPECT

Under normal circumstances, the withdrawal from the international scene of Russia's Maxim Litvinov might be of little significance. He is old enough to retire from public life, and his past accomplishments in the Soviet service certainly have earned him the right to spend his declining years in secluded leisure.

But the current world situation by no conceivable stretch of the imagination could be termed "normal." The unanimity which won a war for the allies seems to have dissolved with the surrender of the axis. Nation battles nation and bloc battles bloc at the U.N. meetings in New York and at the peace conference in Paris. The peace for which the world waited through six long, bloody years has disintegrated into a "war of nerves" in which crisis follows crisis with devastating rapidity.

Nor can the conditions surrounding Litvinov's withdrawal from world affairs be considered "normal." Here, obviously, was no voluntary retirement of an aging statesman; here was a repudiation of an individual by the government he served. The kremlin made no effort to disguise that fact—it simply announced tersely, over the Moscow radio, that the council of ministers had "released Maxim Litvinov from his duties as deputy minister of foreign affairs."

The Litvinov announcement assumes, therefore, a significance which in happier days and under happier circumstances it would not have possessed. No reason of any kind was given for Moscow's curious action. But the western world may have little doubt as to what prompted it.

Maxim Litvinov has long been known as perhaps the leading advocate in high Soviet circles of friendship between Russia and the western allies. He was the author of the phrase "Peace is indivisible," a phrase in which he so sincerely believed that he devoted his entire diplomatic career to effectuating it.

It seems to us perfectly apparent that Litvinov's dismissal was due primarily—if not solely—to the reasonable and friendly attitude he championed toward the western allies. Only thus does it make sense, considered in the context of Russia's present domestic and international policy.

The kremlin apparently is determined to pursue its own course in world affairs, scornful of compromise and impatient of criticism. That fact has all too often been demonstrated at the international gatherings of the past several months.

The world will miss Maxim Litvinov. But Soviet foreign policy will miss him no less. It will miss not only the friends he made for Russia, but also the temperate and compromising influence he always strove to exert on his diplomatic colleagues. The cause of peace has been injured by his removal, we are afraid—and the cause of peace is no less the cause of Russia than it is that of the western world.

SIGNIFICANT POLL

The results of one of the latest of those seemingly endless opinion polls reached. It seems to us, a new high in interest while revealing what is perhaps a new low in intelligence. The poll was that conducted by Donald V. McGranahan, Harvard university psychologist, among German youth.

Asking the question, "Who is the greatest man in world history?" Mr. McGranahan received some curious answers.

Of the 391 German boys and girls interviewed in Friedberg and Offenback, 63 cast votes for Franklin D. Roosevelt and eight for Harry S. Truman—results which may reasonably be supposed to have some bearing on Germany's present position as a conquered foe of the United States. But look for a moment at the other choices: Bismarck (50), Frederick the Great (49), Hitler (19), Eisenhower (14), Charlemagne (8), Caesar (6), Alexander the Great (3), and Napoleon (3).

Military men and conquerors all! And the "heroes" of Prussian aggression rank. It should be noted, second, third, and fourth. Thus does German youth accept and revere the military heritage which has brought Germany to its present broken and bleeding state.

Surely never before has "the infinite capacity of the human mind to resist knowledge" been better demonstrated. Certainly, we may justifiably infer from this that the widely-heralded efforts to educate Germany to democratic ideals have thus far met with little success. Prussian militarism retains its grip on the imaginations of Germans young enough perhaps to be called upon to fight a war in another decade or two.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

PRESSURE—Executive bureaucrats and spenders of the Hopkins-Ickes-Wallace type can be checked effectively under the La Follette-Monroney reorganization program if congress chooses to take advantage of several less publicized features of the reform measure, according to a careful analysis made for his clients by a nationally known public utility lobbyist at Washington.

Ray Tucker

His survey carries considerable significance because it purports to inform his customers whether they benefit or lose out under the streamlining procedure.

Although he draws no hard-and-fast conclusion, he conveys the general impression that federal and private pressure groups seeking funds or favors from the national legislature must present better and more fortified arguments than they frequently have in the past.

• • •

MODIFICATION—He makes the same general conclusion regarding the effect of the operation that prevails among capital hill veterans, to wit:

"This measure should not be looked upon as a legislative cure-all. Most congresses are as good as the run of the average ability of the membership, regardless of the rules under which they work.

"It is possible that some of these rules changes will be found too difficult to put into effect. How much of the program will become operative remains to be seen when the new machinery is set up in January. It is probable that from time to time the act will receive some modification."

• • •

SPECIALIST — The reduction in the number of house-senate committees, together with the provision that members may serve on only one major unit, the lobbyist-reporter warns his clients, means that the lawmakers will have a chance to specialize on the particular problems to which they are assigned by the leaders.

"Each member," he says, assuming that the legislators want to work on the job, "will understand a great deal about his own field of federal legislation, and have only a superficial knowledge of the problems outside his own sphere. Thus congress will lean more heavily on the recommendations of its own specialists.

"In its own area each committee will, in effect, become a little congress whose decisions generally will be accepted with brief debate on the floor."

In the past an MC serving on two or three major committees rarely had the time to study in detail such questions as labor, finance, agriculture, national defense, taxes, etc. As a consequence, they were usually at the mercy of lobbyists like the author of this analysis or of special pleaders from downtown departments.

• • •

ECONOMY—The change in senate parliamentary procedure permitting effective entrance of individual objections to unauthorized appropriations should operate in favor of economy and against continued expansion of federal activities, in the opinion of this expert analyst.

"Until the popular election of senators," he continues, "the so-called upper chamber was considered not only the senior body but also the more conservative. But the record shows that for a long time the senate has been less in touch with popular opinion, and at the same time the more radically inclined. It has also been the spending body.

"Time and again the house has trimmed appropriations to the bone, only to see the senate not only restore the request of a profligate budget bureau but also increase their requests.

"House conferees have stood out for their reductions manfully, but in order to maintain the operations of the federal government, they have usually yielded to accept many of the unnecessary millions which the senate has added.

• • •

PROCEDURE—"Much of this spending has been made possible by the fact that the senate has not had the 'point of order' procedure which prevails in the house. In the lower chamber, under this rule, no appropriation containing a grant of funds may be made without a previous congressional authorization.

"Therefore, many wartime activities created by executive order were continued (and some stopped) when the appropriation bills were presented to the house. Any member could arise and make a point of order of no previous authorization, and the item would be eliminated automatically.

• • •

OPEN—"This is regarded as sound parliamentary practice. Another factor that stimulated and aided the mania for spending is the secrecy with which appropriation committee operated. Special pleading by specially trained bureaucrats took on new heights behind closed doors. In the future all hearings will be open unless a majority votes to bar the press and public. There cannot be so much backscratching under this system of publicity.

"With the secrecy provisions and the no 'point of order' procedure in the senate the spenders had a loophole as big as a barn door. This innovation should have a salutary effect on keeping appropriations down in the more radical and extravagant senate."

VIEWS OF OTHERS

AND WHY NOT?

"Another suggestion which I made in my verdant ignorance was that congress, at the end of every session, should publish the voting records of its members. A brochure of that sort should be in the hands of every voter in the country, so that he could find out, easily and quickly, exactly who his congressman or senator has been representing. My resolution failed to pass at the last session; indeed, the committee on printing refused to report it out or conduct open hearings on it. It was, I was told, utterly impractical. And I suppose that some people certainly would find it so."—Senator Glen H. Taylor of Idaho.

Senator Taylor has not impressed this department very favorably but on this point he has something, namely: having the voting records of the members of congress published at the close of each session.

That would be a genuine service to the country and a great aid in the important task of checking up on these gentlemen who are elected to represent their constituents—at least a majority of them—but often only represent themselves and a few pals back home or some of the pressure-groups.

Collier's Weekly in the days of Mark Sullivan rendered this service upon request but we know of no organization except the League of Women Voters that takes any trouble in a checking service now.

We fail to see anything impractical about the idea, but we can quite understand why some of the congressmen and senators would find it embarrassing if their votes on all questions were a matter of public record.—Medford (Ore.) Mail Tribune.

GETTING THE JUMP ON US

While the American automobile industry flounders, with production less than half prewar despite the use of a larger personnel, Britain has already passed prewar production and is exporting cars to all parts of the world, including the United States, which used to be allergic to foreign cars.

Government and industry have combined to push auto production in Britain as a means of restoring the country's export trade. Half of them are required to be exported, regardless of what the local public thinks about it, for the foreign sales are needed to pay for imports of food and raw materials needed in industry.

Britain specializes in small cars, having three popular makes in this class. However her pre-eminence is likely to be short lived, for her smallest car sells in Britain for the equivalent of $1,160-in-our-money—as much or more than a Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth at the factory.

Britain will do a rushing business while the U. S. is catching up with the domestic demand, but she will have a tough time when our people go after foreign markets again.

Her enterprise is to be admired though.—Idaho Free Press, Nampa.

CHILDS

CATAUMET, Mass.—In spite of the latest crisis, blazoned in black headlines in the newspapers and proclaimed on the radio regularly on the half hour, America is relaxing in this first summer of peace. Relaxing, you might say, with a vengeance.

Marquis Childs

There is a kind of urgency about it. If this is to be only a brief interlude of peace, and that gloomy foreboding sometimes bears down heavily—then they are determined to squeeze the last drop of goodness from it.

The winding roads, here on Cape Cod, are lined with cars. The public beaches are crowded. The "no vacancies" sign hangs out, as in every other resort area throughout the country. To care for those who were disappointed during the summer, many hotels will remain open through September and October.

But for those who seek it, there is peace and quiet. We look out through the pines to the stretch of sand and the blue water of our small arm of the bay. Our sailboat rocks out toward the channel, moving stiffly in the swift breeze. This peace may be deceptive, but if it is, we cannot help for a time welcoming the deception.

"Earth could be fair." That is the phrase which recurs again and again. Sitting on the shore of this play-ground that projects out into the Atlantic, you think of the long sweep of the American earth. The fir-bordered lakes of Wisconsin and Minnesota. The Rockies and the great parks where thousands upon thousands of tourists get at least a glimpse of splendor. Then, across the divide to the Pacific slope and all its wonders. Here are Americans by the million, playing, relaxing.

It seems so far from the cauldrons of Europe, where hate and jealousy bubble more fiercely than ever. Although we've learned painfully that it is just next door, Trieste seems a million miles from Cape Cod. What is it that has made the difference? Is it our space and our natural wealth? Is it the fact that we could make more or less a clean start, breaking with the old nationalist rivalries? Is it, as our isolationists like to tell us, merely the fact of our physical isolation?

"Earth could be fair." I think back to a few days spent last year in Jugoslavia. Again and again, people came up to me on the street and in restaurants, looking around cautiously first, then speaking in an undertone to ask if there wasn't some way they could come to America. For the old, it was a last desperate prayer. For the young, it was a distant gleam of hope; they wanted to know if they couldn't join our army and thereby qualify themselves for citizenship.

This was in the Jugoslavia of swaggering Marshal Tito. It was in the Jugoslavia where even then a pan-Slavic imperialism was being fanned by an unceasing propaganda bellows. But if you tried to write about pan-Slavism, the censor bluepenciled it. Tito was not yet ready to show his hand.

I don't think most of the unhappy people in Jugoslavia were in the least interested in pan-Slavism. They wanted peace and a little more to eat. They wanted to be free of fear for a time. But it is wonderful what the propaganda bellows can do with a people who are hungry, confused, frustrated.

• • •

An incident out of that brief visit comes back. One of Tito's young hotheads, wife of a cabinet minister, suddenly turned to me and said: "Don't you love your country?" To an American that seemed a foolish question. Of course we love our country, I told her. "Why don't you talk about it, then?" she demanded.

Across the bay here, on the reefs that are out of water at low tide, people are clamming. The notices posted along the shore say that clamming is allowed on this one day only. It is signed by the selectmen of Barnstable.

Well, perhaps we do take our country too much for granted. It has always been here, rich and proud and beautiful—if at times a little foolish and confused. Nevertheless, that seems infinitely preferable to the disease of nationalism; the terrible pathological fever that is once again being fanned into flame.

If you look up quickly, you can see those flames—then, just across the line of the dunes. They intrude on the peaceful landscape even in this summer when America would like to look the other way.

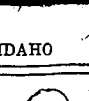
POT SHOTS



BACK AGAIN

Well, we're back from our vacation.

What's more, we actually had a rest. The hardest work we did while vacationing on the banks of Payette lake was to carry in water to our cabin. We stayed away from newspapers for two weeks, refusing to read any of 'em. On our desk when we got back was a stack of mail eight inches high from you loyal contribs. We'll need some time to get through it.

Incidentally, that water-carrying added a new word to the Pot Shots family vocabulary. We were lucky to get a cabin up there at all, what with applying only the week before we went, so we couldn't get the kind we wanted. And Little Miss Pot Shots, with the lofty disdain of her five years, kept bemoaning the fact that the cabin wasn't "modern."

POTENT COMPLAINT

Up at McCall, while we were there on vacation, the editor of the weekly paper, the Payette Lakes Star, announced that his next issue would find the size of the paper expanded to a full width sheet.

Said the editor, "Slick Rock" Brown:

"We been getting complaints from a lot of folks that our paper was too small to wrap a bottle of whisky in. Now they can wrap a bottle comfortably."

PEACEFUL BURG

Dear Pot Shots:

I just want to call your attention to how wonderful this town will be when we do not have any noise from the railroad or the through highway traffic or big air liners landing and taking off which would disturb our peaceful slumbers. This should be the most wonderful place in Idaho to own a home and retire. We could have a nice home and sit on our porches and really enjoy a peaceful life. It looks to me like we are all so sound asleep now that there is nothing that will awaken us.

I also understand that there is a movement to set up the Magic Valley medical center and move the Twin Falls hospital to Burley. I am not opposed to all of this but please, won't they let us keep the cemetery so that all of us will have a place to be buried?

FAMOUS LAST LINE

"... And are ya glad to get back to work? ..."

THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

BOB HOPE

In the last few months there has been a definite "back to the farm" movement going on with even Hollywood joining in. The rage now is playing "summer stock." That's vaudeville with real egg.

Bob Hope

All the stars are doing it, and it's really great. You are up with the chickens and out with the chicks. I played this summer stock in a little place called "The Red Barn" . . . In fact, it's been in the red ever since. I wasn't exactly playing summer stock . . . I had just finished a split week at the Palace and needed a place to hide.

It was pretty tough playing those barns. While I was doing my act they had a rooster crowing to keep the audience awake.

Seriously though, the summer theater is a wonderful testing ground for young talent and a challenge to motion picture stars. Being in front of live audience demands great acting skill as there isn't any opportunity for retakes. Besides, the country audience usually has an ample supply of fresh vegetables on hand.

The movie stars go over big out in the country, and I understand Frank Sinatra is in great demand among summer theaters. It seems the crows are getting out of hand.

We'll soon have summer theaters springing up all across the country and farmers are really excited about the prospect. Yes sir, it looks like a bumper crop of turkeys this year.

(The Album photo-staff engraving)

Hansen-McFarland Marry

Various colored gladioli, asters and greenery provided the setting Sunday afternoon when Jane McFarland, Twin Falls, became the bride of Merrill W. Hansen, Jerome.

The vows were exchanged at 3 p. m. at the Ascension Episcopal church with the Rev. E. Leslie Rolls officiating.

The former Miss McFarland is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. McFarland, 209 Sixth avenue east, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hansen, Douglas, Wyo.

For her wedding the bride chose a gray afternoon wool dress with black accessories. She wore a corsage of red rosebuds. Danny Brehm was best man for the ceremony.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. McFarland was in a black gown with black accessories. Relatives and close friends witnessed the service.

Immediately following the rites Mr. and Mrs. Hansen left for San Francisco where they plan to make their home. For traveling the bride chose an afternoon print ensemble.

Mrs. Hansen, who received her education in the Twin Falls schools, has been employed at the Twin Falls public library for the past 18 months.

The bridegroom was in the service for two and a half years and was in a German prison camp for eight months. He was formerly manager of the Western Union in Jerome.

The bride was honored at pre-nuptial miscellaneous shower Saturday evening at the home of Rachel Olmstead. Betty Ann Fink and Mary Lou Smith were co-hostesses.

Luncheon was served from a lace covered table centered with a bouquet of mixed garden flowers.

Guests invited to the party were Emma Lou Luke, Pat Avant, Doris Young, Shirley Adams, Ann Winterholer, Lois Shenebergerr, Ruth Van Engelen, Phyllis Burkhart, Peggy Strain, Leah Dunken, Betty Dunken, Helen Greenhalgh, June Geer, Jonni Detweiler, Jane Anderson, Dorothy Allen, Jeannine Saxon, Mrs. W. I. McFarland, Helen Minter, Mrs. E. H. Olmstead, Mrs. R. E. Smith, Mrs. L. F. Fink, Doris Cornielson and Shirley Miller.

Mrs. L. V. Rothrock will display her collection of character dolls at a meeting of the Kimberly Road club scheduled at her home, 1810 Kimberly Road, at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Current events will be discussed by the club members. Mrs. Arnold Oslund, president, will officiate at the business meeting. Following the social hour refreshments will be served.

Social Situations

THE SITUATION: When friends stop in, you serve them something to drink while your small child is in the room.

WRONG WAY: Say to the child, "This is just for the grown-ups."

RIGHT WAY: Fix fruit juice or a glass of milk and a cookie for the child, who should not be neglected just because the adults are having something that is not suitable for a child.

Pre-Nuptial Shower

A pre-nuptial shower honoring Anna Ruth Goodding was held recently at the home of Mrs. George Childs. Miss Goodding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Goodding, Twin Falls, will become the bride of Richard F. Poppe, Butte, Mont., on Sept. 4 in the Methodist church.

Mrs. Terry Sullivan and Marian Hallock were the assistant hostesses. Thelma Nan Moon won the prize in the bridal guessing contest. Mrs. Sullivan presented a vocal solo accompanied on the organ by Mildred Elrod. She also read a poem. Miss Goodding found her gifts after following streamers of ribbon throughout the house. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Other guests at the party were Mrs. Elmer Annis, Mrs. Carl Davis, Mrs. Ralph Marsh, Mrs. Grace Lautenheim, Mrs. Sarah Allen, Nellie Case, Mabel Case, Mrs. Harold Hallock, Mrs. C. W. Weddings, Engagements

Smith-Everts Nuptials

Elaine Everts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Everts, Rochester, Minn., will become the bride of D. A. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Smith, route three, Twin Falls, at 4 p. m. today at the St. Edward's Catholic church.

The Rt. Rev. J. P. O'Toole will be the officiating clergyman at the service. Various colored gladioli and candlelight will form the setting for the exchange of wedding vows.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a white formal gown accented by a fingertip veil. She will carry a bridal bouquet of gardenias and rosebuds.

Bernice Smith, sister in a white formal gown, will be maid of honor. She will carry a bouquet of white rosebuds.

Flave Lydum will be the best man. There will be 30 wedding guests who will witness the ceremony. Following the service a reception will be held in the Rogerson hotel.

Mrs. Lydum will have charge of the guest book. A three tiered wedding cake, flanked by bouquets of flowers, will center the lace covered refreshment table.

For traveling the bride has chosen a light blue suit with a corsage of gardenias. The couple plans to take a wedding trip to Canada. They plan to make their home in Los Angeles.

Miss Everts graduated from high school in Rochester. She attended the University of Minnesota. Since that time she has been employed by the Reconstruction Finance company in Los Angeles.

Smith graduated from the Pocatello high school. Since his discharge from the army he has been attending law school at the University of Southern California.

* * * *

WENDELL, Sept. 3 — Nola Gay Hanson and Robert Frank Amos were united in marriage at a double ring ceremony at 11:30 a. m. Sunday, Aug. 11, at the Wendell Presbyterian church. Bishop Francis E. Hulet, Wendell LDS ward, officiated at the service. Pastel gladioli formed the background for the exchange of nuptial vows.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of silk ninon and her fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bridal bouquet of pink and white gladioli tied with bows of satin and net and streamers of blue and white satin. She was given in marriage by her father.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Ordell Haberman. She wore a formal gown with a check taffeta bodice and a net skirt.

LaRue Gold, in a formal of jersey and net, and Beth Lancaster, in jersey and taffeta, were bridesmaids. They wore corsages of pink and white camellias. Eldon Amos, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Steve Bartlett and Kenny Lancaster were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hanson wore a black crepe dress with black and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a black pin stripe suit with fuchsia accessories. They wore matching corsages of pink and white camellias.

Dr. H. F. Holsinger sang accompanied by Mrs. Holsinger. Following the service a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hanson.

Centering the lace covered refreshment table was a three tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Emma Anderson, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Ann Anderson and Mrs. Eldon Amos presided at the refreshment table. Assisting were Mrs. Cleo Prince, Mrs. Chancy Willard, Mrs. Dick Gold, Mrs. C. H. Turnbeaugh and Mrs. William Jackson. In charge of the guest book was Eldon Amos.

Mrs. Amos graduated in 1946 and is at present employed as a nurse aid at St. Valentine's hospital. The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Amos, graduated from the Wendell high school in 1943. He served three years in the air corps of the navy. He recently returned from the Pacific theater of operations.

For traveling the bride was in a light brown suit with a gold top coat and brown accessories. The couple will live in Wendell.

UNCOMPROMISING PROSPECT

Under normal circumstances, the withdrawal from the international scene of Russia's Maxim Litvinov might be of little significance. He is old enough to retire from public life, and his past accomplishments in the Soviet service certainly have earned him the right to spend his declining years in secluded leisure.

But the current world situation by no conceivable stretch of the imagination could be termed "normal." The unanimity which won a war for the allies seems to have dissolved with the surrender of the axis. Nation battles nation and bloc battles bloc at the U.N. meetings in New York and at the peace conference in Paris. The peace for which the world waited through six long, bloody years has disintegrated into a "war of nerves" in which crisis follows crisis with devastating rapidity.

Nor can the conditions surrounding Litvinov's withdrawal from world affairs be considered "normal." Here, obviously, was no voluntary retirement of an aging statesman; here was a repudiation of an individual by the government he served. The kremlin made no effort to disguise that fact—it simply announced tersely, over the Moscow radio, that the council of ministers had "released Maxim Litvinov from his duties as deputy minister of foreign affairs."

The Litvinov announcement assumes, therefore, a significance which in happier days and under happier circumstances it would not have possessed. No reason of any kind was given for Moscow's curious action. But the western world may have little doubt as to what prompted it.

Maxim Litvinov has long been known as perhaps the leading advocate in high Soviet circles of friendship between Russia and the western allies. He was the author of the phrase "Peace is indivisible," a phrase in which he so sincerely believed that he devoted his entire diplomatic career to effectuating it.

It seems to us perfectly apparent that Litvinov's dismissal was due primarily—if not solely—to the reasonable and friendly attitude he championed toward the western allies. Only thus does it make sense, considered in the context of Russia's present domestic and international policy.

The kremlin apparently is determined to pursue its own course in world affairs, scornful of compromise and impatient of criticism. That fact has all too often been demonstrated at the international gatherings of the past several months.

The world will miss Maxim Litvinov. But Soviet foreign policy will miss him no less. It will miss not only the friends he made for Russia, but also the temperate and compromising influence he always strove to exert on his diplomatic colleagues. The cause of peace has been injured by his removal, we are afraid—and the cause of peace is no less the cause of Russia than it is that of the western world.

SIGNIFICANT POLL

The results of one of the latest of those seemingly endless opinion polls reached, it seems to us, a new high in interest while revealing what is perhaps a new low in intelligence. The poll was that conducted by Donald V. McGranahan, Harvard university psychologist, among German youth.

Asking the question, "Who is the greatest man in world history?" Mr. McGranahan received some curious answers.

Of the 391 German boys and girls interviewed in Friedberg and Offenback, 63 cast votes for Franklin D. Roosevelt and eight for Harry S. Truman—results which may reasonably be supposed to have some bearing on Germany's present position as a conquered foe of the United States. But look for a moment at the other choices: Bismarck (50), Frederick the Great (49), Hitler (19), Eisenhower (14), Charlemagne (8), Caesar (6), Alexander the Great (3), and Napoleon (3).

Military men and conquerors all! And the "heroes" of Prussian aggression rank, it should be noted, second, third, and fourth. Thus does German youth accept and revere the military heritage which has brought Germany to its present broken and bleeding state.

Surely never before has "the infinite capacity of the human mind to resist knowledge" been better demonstrated. Certainly, we may justifiably infer from this that the widely-heralded efforts to educate Germany to democratic ideals have thus far met with little success. Prussian militarism retains its grip on the imaginations of Germans young enough perhaps to be called upon to fight a war in another decade or two.

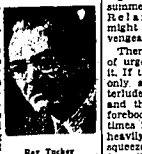
TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

PRESSURE—Executive bureaucrats and spenders of the Hopkins-Ickes-Wallace type can be checked effectively under the La Follette-Monroney reorganization program if congress chooses to take advantage of several less publicized features of the reform measure, according to a careful analysis made for his clients by a nationally known public utility lobbyist at Washington.



Ray Tucker

His survey carries considerable significance because it purports to inform his customers whether they benefit or lose out under the streamlining procedure.

Although he draws no hard-and-fast conclusion, he conveys the general impression that federal and private pressure groups seeking funds or favors from the national legislature must present better and more fortified arguments than they frequently have in the past.

• • •

MODIFICATION—He makes the same general conclusion regarding the effect of the operation that prevails among capital hill veterans, to wit:

"This measure should not be looked upon as a legislative cure-all. Most congresses are as good as the run of the average ability of the membership, regardless of the rules under which they work.

"It is possible that some of these rules changes will be found too difficult to put into effect. How much of the program will become operative remains to be seen when the new machinery is set up in January. It is probable that from time to time the act will receive some modification."

• • •

SPECIALIST — The reduction in the number of house-senate committees, together with the provision that members may serve on only one major unit, the lobbyist-reporter warns his clients, means that the lawmakers will have a chance to specialize on the particular problems to which they are assigned by the leaders.

"Each member," he says, assuming that the legislators want to work on the job, "will understand a great deal about his own field of federal legislation, and have only a superficial knowledge of the problems outside his own sphere. Thus congress will lean more heavily on the recommendations of its own specialists.

"In its own area each committee will, in effect, become a little congress whose decisions generally will be accepted with brief debate on the floor."

In the past an MC serving on two or three major committees rarely had the time to study in detail such questions as labor, finance, agriculture, national defense, taxes, etc. As a consequence, they were usually at the mercy of lobbyists like the author of this analysis or of special pleaders from downtown departments.

• • •

ECONOMY—The change in senate parliamentary procedure permitting effective entrance of individual objections to unauthorized appropriations should operate in favor of economy and against continued expansion of federal activities, in the opinion of this expert analyst.

"Until the popular election of senators," he continues, "the so-called upper chamber was considered not only the senior body but also the more conservative. But the record shows that for a long time the senate has been less in touch with popular opinion, and at the same time the more radically inclined. It has also been the spending body.

"Time and again the house has trimmed appropriations to the bone, only to see the senate not only restore the request of a profligate budget bureau but also increase their requests.

"House conferees have stood out for their reductions manfully, but in order to maintain the operations of the federal government, they have usually yielded to accept many of the unnecessary millions which the senate has added.

• • •

PROCEDURE—"Much of this spending has been made possible by the fact that the senate has not had the 'point of order' procedure which prevails in the house. In the lower chamber, under this rule, no appropriation containing a grant of funds may be made without a previous congressional authorization.

"Therefore, many wartime activities created by executive order were continued (and some stopped) when the appropriation bills were presented to the house. Any member could arise and make a point of order of no previous authorization, and the item would be eliminated automatically.

• • •

OPEN—"This is regarded as sound parliamentary practice. Another factor that stimulated and aided the mania for spending is the secrecy with which appropriation committee operated. Special pleading by specially trained bureaucrats rose to new heights behind closed doors. In the future all hearings will be open unless a majority votes to bar the press and public. There cannot be so much backscratching under this system of publicity.

"With the secrecy provisions and the no 'point of order' procedure in the senate the spenders had a loophole as big as a barn door. This innovation should have a salutary effect on keeping appropriations down in the more radical and extravagant senate."

VIEWS OF OTHERS

AND WHY NOT?

"Another suggestion which I made in my verdant ignorance was that congress, at the end of every session, should publish the voting records of its members. A brochure of that sort should be in the hands of every voter in the country, so that he could find out, easily and quickly, exactly who his statesman or senator has been representing. My resolution failed to pass at the last session; indeed, the committee on printing refused to report it out or conduct open hearings on it. It was, I was told, utterly impractical. And I suppose that some people certainly would find it so."
—Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho.

Senator Taylor has not impressed this department very favorably but on this point he has something, namely: having the voting records of the members of the congress published at the close of each session.

That would be a genuine service to the country and a great aid in the important task of checking up on these gentlemen who are elected to represent their constituents—at least a majority of them—but often only represent themselves and a few pals back home or some of the pressure-groups.

Collier's Weekly in the days of Mark Sullivan rendered this service upon request but we know of no organization except the League of Women Voters that takes any trouble in a checking service now.

We fail to see anything impractical about the idea, but we can quite understand why some of the congressmen and senators would find it embarrassing if their votes on all questions were a matter of public record.—Medford (Ore.) Mail Tribune.

GETTING THE JUMP ON US

While the American automobile industry flounders, with production less than half prewar despite the use of a larger personnel, Britain has already passed prewar production and is exporting cars to all parts of the world, including the United States, which used to be allergic to foreign cars.

Government and industry have combined to push auto production in Britain as a means of restoring the country's export trade. Half of them are required to be exported, regardless of what the local public thinks about it, for the foreign sales are needed to pay for imports of food and raw materials needed in industry.

Britain specializes in small cars, having three popular makes in this class. However her pre-eminence is likely to be short lived, for her smallest car sells in Britain for the equivalent of $1,150 in our money, as much or more than a Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth at the factory.

Britain will do a rushing business while the U. S. is catching up with the domestic demand, but she will have a tough time when our people go after foreign markets again.

Her enterprise is to be admired though.—Idaho Free Press, Nampa.

CHILDS

CATAUMET, Mass.—In spite of the latest crisis, blazoned in black headlines in the newspapers and proclaimed on the radio regularly on the half hour, America is relaxing in this first summer of peace. Relaxing, you might say, with a vengeance.

Marquis Childs

There is a kind of urgency about it. If this is to be only a brief interlude of peace—and that gloomy foreboding sometimes bears down heavily—then we are determined to squeeze the last drop of goodness from it.

The winding roads, here on Cape Cod, are lined with cars. The public beaches are crowded. The "no vacancies" sign hangs out, as in every other resort area throughout the country. To care for those who were disappointed during the summer, many hotels will remain open through September and October.

But for those who seek it, there is peace and quiet. We look out through the pines to the stretch of sand and the blue water of our small arm of the bay. Our sailboat heads out toward the channel, moving airily in the swift breeze. This peace may be fugitive, but if it is, we cannot help for a time welcoming the deception.

"Earth could be fair." That is the phrase which recurs again and again. Sitting on the shore of this play-ground that projects out into the Atlantic, you think of the long sweep of the American earth. The fir-bordered lakes of Wisconsin and Minnesota. The Rockies and the great parks where thousands upon thousands of tourists get at least a glimpse of splendor. Then, across the divide to the Pacific slope and all its wonders. Here are Americans by the million, playing, relaxing.

• • •

It seems so far from the cauldrons of Europe, where hate and jealousy bubble more fiercely than ever. Although we've learned painfully that it is just next door. Trieste seems a million miles from Cape Cod. What is it that has made the difference? Is it our space and our natural wealth? Is it the fact that we could make more or less a clean start, breaking with the old nationalist rivalries? Is it, as our isolationists like to tell us, merely the fact of our physical isolation?

"Earth could be fair." I think back to a few days spent last year in Jugoslavia. Again and again, people came up to me on the street and in restaurants, looking around cautiously first, then speaking in an undertone to ask if there wasn't some way they could come to America. For the old, it was a last desperate prayer. For the young, it was a distant gleam of hope they wanted to know if they couldn't join our army and thereby qualify themselves for citizenship.

This was in the Jugoslavia of swaggering Marshal Tito. It was in the Jugoslavia where even then a pan-Slavic imperialism was being fanned by an unceasing propaganda bellows. But if you tried to write about pan-Slavism, the censor bluepencilled it. Tito was not yet ready to show his hand.

I don't think most of the unhappy people in Jugoslavia were in the least interested in pan-Slavism. They wanted peace and a little more to eat. They wanted to be free of fear for a time. But it is wonderful what the propaganda bellows can do with a people who are hungry, confused, frustrated.

• • •

An incident out of that brief visit comes back. One of Tito's young hotheads, wife of a cabinet minister, suddenly turned to me and said: "Don't you love your country?" To an American that seemed a foolish question. Of course we love our country, I told her. "Why don't you talk about it, then?" she demanded.

Across the bay here, on the reefs that are out of water at low tide, people are clamming. The notices posted along the shore say that clamming is allowed on this one day only. It is signed by the selectmen of Barnstable.

Well, perhaps we do take our country too much for granted. It has always been here, rich and proud and beautiful—if at times a little foolish and confused. Nevertheless, that seems infinitely preferable to the disease of nationalism; the terrible pathology of hate that is once again being fanned into flame.

If you look up quickly, you can see those flames—there, just across the line of the dunes. They intrude on the peaceful landscape even in this summer when America would like to look the other way.

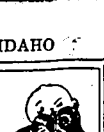
POT SHOTS



BACK AGAIN

Well, we're back from our vacation.

What's more, we actually had a rest. The hardest work we did while vacationing on the banks of Payette lake was to carry in water to our cabin. We stayed away from newspapers for two weeks, refusing to read any of 'em. On our desk when we got back was a stack of mail eight inches high from you loyal contribs. We'll need some time to get through it.

Incidentally, that water-carrying added a new word to the Pot Shots family vocabulary. We were lucky to get a cabin up there at all, what with applying only the week before we went, so we couldn't get the kind we wanted. And Little Miss Pot Shots, with the lofty disdain of her five years, kept bemoaning the fact that the cabin wasn't "moderen."

POTENT COMPLAINT

Up at McCall, while we were there on vacation, the editor of the weekly paper, the Payette Lakes Star, announced that his next issue would find the size of the paper expanded to a full width sheet.

Said the editor, "Slick Rock" Brown:

"We been getting complaints from a lot of folks that our paper was too small to wrap a bottle of whisky in. Now they can wrap a bottle comfortably."

PEACEFUL BURG

Dear Pot Shots:

I just want to call your attention to how wonderful this town will be when we do not have any noise from the railroad or the through highway traffic or big air liners landing and taking off which would disturb our peaceful slumbers. This should be the most wonderful place in Idaho to own a home and retire. We could have a nice home and sit on our porches and really enjoy a peaceful life. It looks to me like we are all so sound asleep now that there is nothing that will awaken us.

I also understand that there is a movement at up the Magic Valley medical center and move the Twin Falls hospital to Burley. I am not oppesed to all of this but please, won't they let us keep the cemetery so that all of us will have a place to be buried?

FAMOUS LAST LINE

"... And are ya glad to get back to work? ..."

THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

BOB HOPE

Bob Hope

In the last few months there has been a definite "back to the farm" movement going on with even Hollywood joining in. The rage now is playing "summer stock." That's vaudeville with real egg.

All the stars are doing it, and it's really great. You are up with the chickens and out with the chicks. I played this summer stock in a little place called "The Red Barn" . . . In fact, it's been in the red ever since. I wasn't exactly playing summer stock . . . I had just finished a split week at the Palace and needed a place to hide.

It was pretty tough playing those barns. While I was doing my act they had a rooster crowing to keep the audience awake.

Seriously, though, the summer theater is a wonderful testing ground for young talent and a challenge to motion picture stars. Being in front of live audience demands great acting skill as there isn't any opportunity for retakes. Besides, the country audience usually has an ample supply of fresh vegetables on hand.

The movie stars go over big out in the country, and I understand Frank Sinatra is in great demand among summer theaters. It seems the crows are getting out of hand.

We'll soon have summer theaters springing up all across the country and farmers are really excited about the prospect. Yes sir, it looks like a bumper crop of turkeys this year.

Hansen-McFarland Marry

Various colored gladioli, asters and greenery provided the setting Sunday afternoon when Jane McFarland, Twin Falls, became the bride of Merrill W. Hansen, Jerome.

The vows were exchanged at 2 p. m. at the Ascension Episcopal church with the Rev. E. Leslie Rolls officiating.

The former Miss McFarland is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. McFarland, 200 Sixth avenue east, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hansen, Douglas, Wyo.

For her wedding the bride chose a gray afternoon wool dress with black accessories. She wore a corsage of red rosebuds. Danny Brehm was best man for the ceremony.

For the daughter's wedding Mrs. McFarland was in a black gown with black accessories. Relatives and close friends witnessed the service.

Immediately following the rites Mr. and Mrs. Hansen left for San Francisco where they plan to make their home. For traveling the bride chose an afternoon print ensemble.

Mrs. Hansen, who received her education in the Twin Falls schools, has been employed at the Twin Falls public library for the past 18 months.

The bridegroom was in the service for two and a half years and was in a German prison camp for eight months. He was formerly manager of the Western Union in Jerome.

The bride was honored at prenuptial miscellaneous shower Saturday evening at the home of Rachel Olmstead. Betty Ann Fink and Mary Lou Smith were co-hostesses.

Luncheon was served from a lace covered table centered with a bouquet of mixed garden flowers.

Guests invited to the party were Emma Lou Luke, Pat Avant, Doris Young, Shirley Adams, Ann Winterholer, Lois Shenberger, Ruth Van Engelen, Phyllis Burkhart, Peggy Strain, Leah Dunken, Betty Dunken, Helen Greenhalgh, June Geer, Jonni Detweiler, Jane Anderson, Dorothy Allen, Jeannine Saxon, Mrs. W. I. McFarland, Helen Minier, Mrs. E. H. Olmstead, Mrs. R. E. Smith, Mrs. L. F. Fink, Doris Cornielson and Shirley Miller.

Kimberly Road Club

Mrs. L. V. Rothrock will display her collection of character dolls at a meeting of the Kimberly Road club scheduled at her home, 1810 Kimberly Road, at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Current events will be discussed by the club members. Mrs. Arnold Galland, president, will officiate at the business meeting. Following the social hour refreshments will be served.

Social Situations

THE SITUATION: When friends stop in, you serve them something to drink while your small child is in the room.

WRONG WAY: Say to the child, "This is just for the grown-ups."

RIGHT WAY: Mix fruit juice or a glass of milk and a cookie for the child, who should not be neglected just because the adults are having something that is not suitable for a child.

Buying unshelled nuts need not be a guessing game. One pound of unshelled almonds yields about one cup of shelled kernels; one pound of filberts about one and one-third cups; one pound of peanuts about two cups; one pound pecans about one and one-half cups; one pound of English walnuts a little more than one and one-half cups halved kernels.

WENDELL, Sept. 3 — Nola Gay Hanson and Robert Frank Amos were united in marriage at a double ring ceremony at 11:30 a. m. Sunday, Aug. 11, at the Wendell Presbyterian church. Bishop Francis E. Hulet, Wendell LDS ward, officiated at the service. Pastel gladioli formed the background for the exchange of nuptial vows.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of silk ninon and her fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bridal bouquet of pink and white gladioli tied with bows of satin and net and streamers of blue and white satin. She was given in marriage by her father.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Ordell Haberman. She wore a formal gown with a check taffeta bodice and a net skirt.

LaRue Gold, in a formal of jersey and net, and Beth Lancaster, in jersey and taffeta, were bridesmaids. They wore corsages of pink and white camellias. Eldon Amos, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Steve Bartlett and Kenny Lancaster were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hanson wore a black crepe dress with black and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a black pin stripe suit with fuchsia accessories. They were matching corsages of pink and white camellias.

Dr. H. F. Holsinger sang accompanied by Mrs. Holsinger. Following the service a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hanson.

Centering the lace covered refreshment table was a three tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Emma Anderson, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Ann Anderson and Mrs. Eldon Amos presided at the refreshment table. Assisting were Mrs. Cleo Prince, Mrs. Chancy Willard, Mrs. Dick Gold, Mrs. C. H. Turnbeaugh and Mrs. William Jackson. In charge of the guest book was Eldon Amos.

Mrs. Amos graduated in 1946 and is at present employed as a nurses' aid at St. Valentine's hospital. The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Amos, graduated from the Wendell high school in 1943. He served three years in the air corps of the navy. He recently returned from the Pacific theater of operations.

For traveling the bride was in a light brown suit with a gold top coat and brown accessories. The couple will live in Wendell.

BUHL, Sept. 3—Disguising the affair as an afternoon tea, the Women of the Christian church surprised Mrs. Kenneth Hendricks with a miscellaneous shower at the parsonage Friday. Suggestive of the sailing soon of the Rev. and Mrs. Hendricks on their return trip as missionaries to Japan, white ships were the motif of the decorations.

Gladioli in white ships decorated the rooms. A white ship laden with gifts was presented by Mrs. Vernon Stroiberg. Another white ship bearing flowers centered a lace covered tea table where Mrs. Pauline Walcott and Mrs. Vernon Stroiberg poured tea while refreshments were served.

Mrs. Hendricks gave a talk on missionary experiences in Japan, especially the travel accommodations on the island. A daughter of Mrs. Hendricks, Mrs. Arthur Edwards and sons of Indianapolis, Ind., were among the out-of-town guests. The hostess, Mrs. H. C. Bever, was assisted by Mrs. Roy Smalley, Mrs. Shelley Williams, Mrs. Claude Hamm and Mrs. Wes Fuller. Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks will be the first Christian church missionaries to return to Japan since the occupation of Japan.

BUHL, Sept. 3 — Mrs. Chandler Griffin has been the honoree at a bridge luncheon and two bridge suppers since Chandler Griffin and his Alabama war bride have come to Buhl recently to make their home since Griffin's discharge from the service.

Mrs. Winton Gray entertained with a luncheon at which bridge was the diversion with prizes going to Mrs. Bob Stuart and Mrs. J. T. Shields. A buffet supper was served in the Emil Bordewick home with Mrs. Ralph Bordewick and Mrs. Emil Bordewick as hostesses. Gladioli predominated in the floral decorations with small flowers centering the tables. Twenty guests were present with prizes for high score going to Mrs. Ray Banbury and Mrs. L. P. Runyon.

Another group of 20 were entertained at supper and bridge by the same women. Prizes went to Mrs. L. E. Byrne and Mrs. Howard Parish.

To loosen a glass stopper that is apt to stick, let a few drops of glycerin soak between stopper and neck of bottle.

First Two Games Here if Pioneer Playoffs Needed

Three players—outfielders Sol Israel and Chuck Belasal and third baseman Lynn Stone—will arrive here Saturday prepared to assist the Cowboys during the final week of Pioneer league season and the playoffs for the title. The three, out on option to the Fond du Lac club of the Wisconsin State league, have been recalled by President Maury Doerr. A wire from the Yankee class D farm club last night informed Doerr the players would leave for Twin Falls tonight.

POCATELLO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Pioneer league president Jack Halliwell placed an "if" bet today and set up tentative arrangements for a playoff to decide the league champion—should that become necessary.

If the Twin Falls Cowboys, first half winners, do not win the second half—a mighty likely premise at this point—the Waddles home yard will be the scene of the first two games of the playoff, Sept. 13 and 14.

After a day off, Sunday, Sept. 15, the teams will move to Salt Lake—oops—to the home site of the second half winner for the next three games.

If any more games are needed to give one team four wins, the two club directors and Halliwell will decide the locale.

Cards Win 2, Brooks Split In N. L. Race

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3 (AP) — The Dodgers' bid to regain the National league lead hit a snag as the Phils rallied for a 3-2 victory in the nightcap of a doubleheader after the Dodgers won the opening game, 5-2.

Brooklyn had started the Labor day engagement, before a standing-room-only crowd of 34,851, one and one-half games behind St. Louis. The Cardinals made sure of retaining the league leadership by downing the Reds, 6-4, in the first game of a doubleheader, and then added a full game to their margin with a victory in the night-cap, 8-7.

Arnold Wins No. 20 As Radtke Hits Homer; Locals Gain Split

By GEORGE F. REDMOND
Times-News Sports Editor

The Magic Valley fan loves his baseball. If he didn't and wasn't deep down loyal to the Cowboys 2,114 of him and her wouldn't have turned out last night at Jaycee park to see their favorites divide a double-bill with the Boise Pilots—the Pilots taking the first, 4-2, and the Wranglers the second, 6-2.

* * * *

There were features galore with the most outstanding being:

Jimmy Arnold's 20th victory of the season, gained in the second game.

Jack Radtke's first homer as a Cowboy also coming in the afterpiece.

Dickie Powers' brilliant catch in right field.

The third game of the series will be played tonight, beginning at 8 p. m.—instead of 8:15 p. m.—with Vance Carlson on the hillock for the Cowboys and Larry Susee for the Pilots.

After two and one-half innings of scoreless ball the Waddies chased across seven runs in the third inning of the second game on the offerings of young Jackie Meister and Gerald Hicks, who took over during the inning. Meister was the loser.

Arnold started the third for the Waddies with a walk and was followed by George Leyrer who also strolled. After Jack Radtke hit into a fielder's choice which dropped Leyrer, Bert Bonomi walked to fill the sacks.

Babe Jensen then walked to force in the first run. As Hicks took over he was greeted by a double off the bat of Hal Loewe which brought home Radtke and Bonomi. Dick Powers was safe on a fielder's choice and Olney Patterson followed with a double which scored Jensen and Loewe. Harry Bright hit the third double of the stanza to send home Powers and Patterson.

Radtke's homer, over the right field wall, came in the fourth.

Cliff Barker, Boise catcher, walked to start the ninth inning rally in the opener. Treece also strolled and both scored on a single by pitcher Curt Schmidt. A single off the bat of Earl Silverthorne scored Schmidt. A brilliant throw by Leyrer to Jensen at third to nip Stenger was the main reason Arnold escaped so early in the game.

In the ninth inning of the opener Waddie chucker Bob Wittig blew a game-long hold over the Pilots who scored three runs to take the session.

Wittig, who sustained the loss, was relieved in the ninth by Willie Greer who retired the side without giving up a hit. Curt Schmidt went the route for the Pilots, giving up seven hits, the same number his mates got off Wittig.

The Cowboys chased over two runs in the third inning. Wittig beat out a bunt and Leyrer doubled down the first base line. Then Radtke singled between first and second to bring his two mates home.

The Pilots got their first run in the fifth when Schmidt doubled to left and Silverthorn singled to left.

Paul-Declo Game Tips Magic Valley Grid Season Lid

The lid on the Magic Valley's 1946 football season will be tipped today when Paul journeys to Declo for an 11-man game.

This will be the first of five games scheduled for the week, all of them 11-man affairs except that between Hazelton and Heyburn on the latter's gridiron.

This game, as well as 11-man games, between Murtaugh and Kimberly on the Bulldog's gridiron and Shoshone and Gooding will be played on Friday. The Murtaugh-Kimberly game will be a night contest.

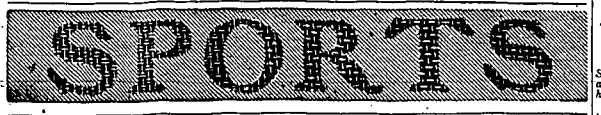
Ten schools, including those in the Big Seven conference and the Twin Falls Bruins, will not begin their season until a week from Friday.

Some of the schools will not begin play until Sept. 20. These include Shoshone and Hailey of the new 11-man class B conference.

Fairfield, coached by John W. Reagan, whose team won the Potato Bowl championship last fall, will begin its season on Sept. 25.

The last school to swing into action will be Bellevue, which does not have a game scheduled until Oct. 4.

Present indications are that more than a usual number of schools will take the gridiron with elevens composed mostly of sophomores and juniors. Apparently plenty of regulars were graduated last spring.



SONNY HISKEY NEW GOLF KING

* * * *

Sonny Hiskey, 15-year-old schoolboy, pulled the upset of the year Monday by winning the Times-News annual Magic Valley Open golf tournament, beating Jimmy Russell 8 and 6 in the finals. Young Hiskey wins a leg on the large trophy on the left, given permanent possession when a golfer wins the title three years. The trophy on the right, also for winning the Magic Valley open, is another added to the growing collection in the Hiskey household. (Photo by Harmon Wolfe-staff engraving)

15-Year-Old Upsets Gibbons and Russell

A golfer who many followers of the niblick game believe will develop into the greatest in the history of Idaho, if not the northwest, today was the new Times-News Magic Valley open tournament champion.

The golfer was 15-year-old Sonny Hiskey, Twin Falls high school freshman who was reared on the edge of the Twin Falls municipal links, where his father, Pete, was greenskeeper and where Coursemaster Fred Stone put a golf club in his hands at the age of eight.

The youngster won the championship with two startling upsets first over Rollo Gibbons, Jerome, the defending champion and long one of Idaho's greatest golfers, in the morning semi-final, 2 up, and then in the finals over Jimmy Russell, who won the Idaho interscholastic links championship in the Big Six tournament here last spring. The latter triumph was an 8 and 6 affair.

In the semi-final, Gibbons and Hiskey each scored 38s in the first nine, while in the second Hiskey had a one-over par 37 and Gibbons a 38. Hiskey birdied the No. 9 hole in the second nine.

With Gibbons on his caddy, Hiskey made quick work of Russell in the final. The schoolboy with a birdie on No. 7 shot a 36 going out to a 44 for Russell. He then ended the match with a birdie on the No. 3 hole coming home.

Russell left his best golf in the semi-finals when he defeated Bud Davis, former member of the University of Wisconsin golf team, 8 and 6. He had a par 36 with birdies on the No. 4 and No. 7 and ended the match with a birdie on the No. 2 hole coming home.

Troy Nationals and Times-News Softy Teams Lose in Tourney

The Troy Nationals men's team and the Times-News girls were home today from Boise, where they lost out after reaching the semi-finals of the first Idaho state softball tournament since the war. The Troy Nationals lost out to the Boise Brewers, 7-4—the team that was later to lose to Nampa Chase's, 13-8 for the title.

The Times-News girls were beaten, 17-3, by the Nampa All-Stars, who later defeated the Idaho Falls girls for the championship.

Third place in the women's division went to the Twin Falls Times-News entry with a 9 to 8 victory over Buhl in a game called for time at the end of four innings. Helen Krengel hit a home run for the Twin Falls entry.

ON THE SPORT FRONT

By GEORGE F. REDMOND

Some things Ye Olde Sport Scrivener learned while looking in at the football coaches meeting here last Saturday:

That "Old Man" Budge of Burley still commands the respect of other Magic Valley mentors.

That Gooding will not want for coaches—good coaches. On Supt. Leigh Ingersoll's faculty are: Elmer Farke, head mentor; Elmer Eddington, who in his last season at Shoshone took an unbeaten team into the district tournament, and Principal Ralph Villers, who turned out some fine teams at Buhl before war called.

That Clark Bell, Albion, will field a six-man team even though he has only seven boys in school.

That L. J. Turner, the new Declo coach, starts 11-man football with one experienced man—Dean Saxton, quarterback, who has returned from the navy.

AND THAT'S THAT FOR NOW EXCEPT: There'll be more of this later.

TENNIS TEAM NAMED

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP) — Top-seeded Frank Parker, Beverly Hills, Calif.; Jack Kramer, Los Angeles; Gardnar Mulloy, Miami, Fla., and Billy Talbert, Wilmington, Del., were named as the American team that will oppose the Swedes in the Davis cup interzone finals at Forest Hills Sept. 13-15.

ONE OF THOUSANDS OF INDEPENDENT MOBILGAS BUSINESS MEN

When you drive into my Mobilgas station I give you the best service I possibly can, because it's my business and I want you to come back again.

But stretching far back of me is an organization that supports the service I give by producing top-quality gasoline, oil and other motor essentials.

You can't beat our combination . . . the 80 years of experience in research and production back of Mobilgas, Mobiloil, and Mobil products I sell . . . and my small independently owned business on its toes to serve you.

Come into my station . . . or any station showing the sign of the Flying Red Horse . . . and see American free enterprise at work, and working.

John H. Bertsch, Portland, Oregon

John H. Bertsch, of Portland, has been in the service station business for 16 years, except for the 3 years spent in active Army service in Europe during World War II. He owns his home, is married and has one child. His partner, H. M. Eastman, is also a home owner, married, and has two children. The partners have been so successful they are now taking over an additional Mobilgas station.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP) — Stocks fell out of the window in today's past-holiday market on one of the sharpest stumbles of the past several years with numerous leaders dropping one to 14 points to lows since last fall-or-longer.

Prices, slightly downward at the start, really began to retreat before midday when the ticker tape, for an interval, was behind actual floor transactions. Volume then tapered but a fresh wave of liquidation hit the list in the fourth hour when quotations generally reached bottom and the recording machinery again lagged for almost 40 minutes. Extreme losses were reduced in many cases at the close. Transfers of around 2,600,000 were among the largest of 1946 to date.

Prominent on the slump were U. S. steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Eastman Kodak, Allied Chemical, du Pont, Johns-Manville, Goodrich, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, North American, Electric Power & Light, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric, Standard Oil (N. J.) and Texas Co.

Bonds backed away.

Meet Called To Reactivate Guard Group

Reactivation of the National Guard association will be carried out at an areawide meeting here at 4 p. m. Sunday at Legion hall, Col. H. G. Lauterbach, executive officer of the state national guard staff, announced Tuesday afternoon.

The colonel said that the meeting applies to all of Magic Valley. All officers who belonged to the national guard prior to, or during, World war II and all officers who have already signed up for the postwar national guard of Idaho are to attend the reactivation session.

The association, said the state executive officer, "is an important factor in the reorganization of the national guard."

Lauterbach also announced that enlistments are open in Twin Falls for the headquarters company of the 183rd infantry.

"We're now ready to receive these enlistments, and all ex-servicemen or other men interested may contact either Lieut.-Col. James Leighton or Lieut. Winslow F. Potter in Twin Falls."

News Hound Is Used to Queries, Blinked at This

Those who slave on the editorial side of a daily newspaper think nothing at all of someone calling up to ask who won the world series in 1902 or who was President in 1806, or what's the population of Utah.

Rumors are confirmed or denied a hundred times a day and scores given out inning by inning to baseball fans who wait in line at telephones.

But even the veterans blinked Monday when a voice on the other end calmly asked, "What day do the schools open in Denver, Colo?"

Undaunted, we queried Denver, via the Associated Press—and for those who are interested, Denver school children plunge into their three R's on Sept. 16.

The opening day was postponed because of the number of cases of poliomyelitis in that state.

Parents Ready to Attend Rites for Capt. Freestone

BURLEY, Sept. 3—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Freestone have been asked by the war department to attend services in Arlington national cemetery, for their son, Capt. Blen H. Freestone, who was killed when his plane was shot down by Yugoslav fighters.

In a telegram received by the Freestones Saturday night, the war department stated that exact time of services was pending arrival in the States of the bodies of the five fliers which are now in Rome.

The parents and two sisters, Karma and Theta, are waiting to leave by train immediately upon notification from the war department.

C. of C. Fund Drive to End With Banquet

The Chamber of Commerce membership fund drive mounted to $4,017.50 Tuesday as plans were laid for the Wednesday night banquet which will end the personal contact drive.

More than $300 in prizes will be given team workers at the banquet at 7 p. m. Wednesday at the Park hotel and efforts will be made to exceed the $10,000 goal by that time, according to James A. Spriggs, secretary-manager.

The team of I. E. (Bill) Nitschke leads with 17 members and $732.50, although no further report had been received since last Friday. Other team totals are Orlo Iliff, 13 members and $427.50; Hugh Phillips, 11 members and $305; Homer Burnett, 10 members and $302.50; John Yaple, 20 members and $612.50; Harold Woolley, 13 members and $512.50; Jewil Ahlin, nine members and $462.50; Phil A. Cargill, 13 members and $450; and O. J. Bothne, 14 members and $350. No report has been received from the team of Herbert R. West, which Friday had 10 members and $462.50.

Crippled Clinic Slated Thursday

Twin Falls will be the scene of an orthopedic clinic conducted by the Idaho Crippled Children's service and the state department of public health Thursday, officials at the south central district health unit announced Tuesday.

Similar clinics will be held at Burley Wednesday and at Jerome Friday.

Conducting the clinics will be Dr. Jerome K. Burton, Boise, orthopedist, and Dr. Ruth J. Rattama, pediatrician of the state department of public health.

2 Building Permit Applications Filed

Two more building permit applications have been filed at the office of City Clerk George A. Davison.

Shirley Byington plans installation of partitions in a garage for use as a wash room and showers at a cost of $300, according to her applications. Scene of this work is a motor court at 1314 Kimberly road.

Ralph E. Funke will move a one-family dwelling from 136 Bell street to 212 Quincy for $100, according to his application.

Loyal Perry Honored at DAV National Memorial Services

A memorial service prayer for Lieut. Loyal I. Perry, who was killed in action Aug. 13, 1945, just one day before Japan surrendered, was offered at the 25th national convention of the Disabled American Veterans Monday evening at Portland, Ore. The prayer was a memorial to all the World war II dead of Twin Falls.

The naval officer's widow, Mrs. Mary Helen Perry, was unable to attend the national memorial service at Portland. She is now teaching in the Twin Falls school system.

The nomination of Lieutenant Perry, as representative of Twin Falls war dead was submitted to the national public relations director of the DAV, Julian J. Jackson of Chicago, by J. J. Mullen, managing editor of the Times-News.

The editor's letter of nomination said:

"In answer to your request for this community's outstanding war hero who died in action, I am submitting a nomination although to my mind each man who died in action is equally worthy.

"For purposes of the DAV memorial service, however, I believe the choice submitted here will typify all our war dead from Twin Falls.

"The man is Lieut. Loyal I. Perry, USNR, who was this community's outstanding loss. He was our most prominent younger civic leader (age 30); was past president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, past-president of the Town Hall association; was a leader in all civic work; father of three children; winner of the outstanding young man award; was in all ways the type of man this community would like to have its youth emulate.

"Lieutenant Perry was killed in action Aug. 13, 1945, just one day before Japan surrendered. He was communications officer on a naval ship of war. A Japanese dive bomber flew at his ship, seeking to hit the bridge and wipe out the ship's top officers. Instead the suicide flier's bomb, and a moment later his plane, struck the communications office in which Lieutenant Perry and 19 others were at work. All were killed.

"Lieutenant Perry volunteered in the naval reserve from his position as assistant cashier of a Twin Falls bank (Fidelity National). He trained at Tucson, Ariz., then was sent to Harvard university for communications training, then was assigned to active sea duty. At least once prior to his death his ship was damaged by suicide planes. Prior to entering the navy he was an officer in the Idaho volunteer reserve."

Week-End Brings Variety of Cases To Police Court

A variety of cases has been docketed for police court following the long Labor day week-end in Twin Falls.

Clyde Rockwell, 18, 216 Third street west, pleaded not guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace when he appeared before Municipal Judge J. O. Pumphrey Tuesday morning. His bond was continued at $50 and he is to appear Sept. 12 for trial.

Cecil D. Brown, who was arrested in the 700 block of Ash street early Monday morning, has posted bond and is to appear Sept. 4, to face a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Three men are to appear on charges of disturbing the peace by fighting. They are Darrell R. and Leonard R. Irish and Max Kerley. They were picked up by Twin Falls city police early Sunday morning. Kerley is being held at the city jail, while the other two have been released on $25 bonds.

William N. Critchfield, who was arrested at 11:15 p. m. Monday, is being held at the city jail awaiting arraignment on a charge of being intoxicated and disturbing the peace.

New Records Reported for Plane Racing

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3 (AP)—Mechanics wiped the grime off slick little mounts today as pilots started homeward after the fastest competitive flying in aviation history at the postwar renewal of the national air races.

New records were written into the books for Alvin (Tex) Johnston's 373.9 miles an hour average in the 300-mile Thompson trophy race for conventional planes and Maj. Gus Lundquist's 515.8 miles an hour in the 180-mile event for jet-propelled aircraft.

In First Race

Johnston, 32-year-old Niagara Falls, N. Y., test pilot, flying his first big race, used a souped-up Bell P-39 Airacobra.

Lundquist, a Chicagoan, flew a Lockheed P-80 Shooting Star. He led three similar army jet fighters in the six-lap event.

The four-day program, marking the renewal of big time air racing after seven years, went off without a single injury despite the tremendous increase in speeds since 1939 and in the entry of many, who like Johnston, were newcomers in major racing.

3 Planes Featured

Top racing glory in the Thompson was spread among three types—the P-39, the Lockheed P-38 Lightning and the North American P-51 Mustang. The P-38 flown to second place Tony Levier of Los Angeles, who demonstrated high speed acrobatics during the first three days of the show, was the only two-engine plane in the race.

The only radial engine plane was the navy Corsair flown by Cook Cleland of Miami, Fla., who finished sixth.

More than 60,000 persons were on hand for the speed filled final day.

Lakes Planned in Minidoka Desert

SHOSHONE, Sept. 3—A group of 12 or 15 artificial lakes will be constructed on the desert land north of Minidoka this week, J. A. Keith, district grazier, announced today.

The lakes will serve as waterholes for grazing stock and will be used as emergency water supply to combat range fires, he explained.

Completion of a grazing service truck trail from Owinza to the Richfield-Bessler canal will be completed Wednesday. The trail will serve as a fire break and will be available for truck traffic in the desert.

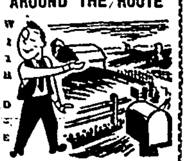
AROUND THE ROUTE



This column is for your enjoyment and interest. Some facts, some fiction, some foolishness—some business. If you like it let us know.

Today we can't even follow the old saying: Believe half we hear and nothing we see—Speed has changed even that.

Grease prices are due for a raise soon. . . Better buy yours here now, while present prices on present stocks last.

Even if the people do support the government—they shouldn't expect the government to support all of them . . . but from the way some of these O. P. A. officials are fighting for their jobs, it looks like they had been strongly converted to that belief.

We have some good new 1,000 pound Fairbanks-Morse scales.

Already there is some predictions that feed grains will be in over supply by next year.

Fuel oil time is near, let us fill your tank. . . Our prices are right, our service is good, our quality is the best, and we're equipped to handle your needs promptly and efficiently, all winter through.

Habit is so strong in people it's almost sure death to try changing some.

Hunters, have you seen our new stock of Tents (both wall and umbrella), sleeping bags, and air mattresses? Time is about here, better check your equipment now.

One nationally recognized leader in the manufacturing of farm machinery claims that strikes have cost their farmer customers 33,800 tractors, 26,400 mowers, 11,800 hay rakes, 36,000 pickup hay ballers. And no one living knows how much it has cost the farmers in Magic Valley in loss of time and crops.

See you again next time, same place.

Russians Aim At Efficiency For All Work

By REMBERT JAMES

MOSCOW, Sept. 3 (AP) — New names and new faces are much in evidence as the Soviet government and communist party move toward the postwar goal of full efficiency all down the line in governmental ministries, within the party, in industry and in agriculture.

The ability to get things done has become more important than ever in Russia, which plans to triple production above the prewar level, at the same time keeping party efficiency and ideology at high pitch.

Sometimes shifting of personnel is due not to inefficiency but to simple dishonesty. The Russian press recently published accounts of dismissals involving such practices as padding production figures and extorting graft. Persons wanting housing and railroad tickets had been made to pay large sums.

On the ideological side, the communist party has warned intellectuals, particularly writers, that their primary duty lies in forwarding the state's and the party's socialistic aims and that "art for art's sake" has no place in the Soviet system.

In a move to bring full power of the printed word into play for state and party aims, only literary magazine in Leningrad was suppressed and a second magazine's editors were discharged for ignoring political considerations and publishing articles describing a central party committee decree as anti-Soviet and full of western "pure art philosophy."

Moves toward increasing governmental efficiency first were noticed last March when a decree was adopted changing commissariats to ministries. The number of government ministries was expanded through sub-division of overgrown and unwieldy agencies and the creation of new ones.

At the same time, state experts went through the ministries culling out inefficient workers and promoting qualified persons.

Merry-Go-Round Wedding Seen by 1,000 Spectators

JEROME, Sept. 3—An estimated 1,000 Labor day spectators here witnessed the merry-go-round wedding of E. R. Adams, 37, and Evelyn Ellinger, 18, both of Jerome, at an evening event at the Jerome county fairgrounds.

Probate Judge William G. Comstock officiated at the single ring ceremony and the attendants were Laura Beem and Millard Ellinger, a brother of the bride. The seven rodeo queen candidates also were wedding guests.

The wedding occurred at 9:20 p. m., featuring the opening of the week long stay of American shows, and was sponsored by the Northside Rodeo association and Jerome merchants.

A three-tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride, a 1940 graduate of Jerome high school and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Simon, Jerome, and the groom, a veteran of five years' army service and a son of Mrs. Alice Marcy, Jerome.

Western costumes were worn by the newly-weds. The bride wore a corsage of red rosebuds and gardenias, and her attendant wore bronze rosebuds and gardenias. The queen candidates wore rosebud and gardenia corsages.

Rep. Dworshak Opposes Entry Of 100,000 Displaced Persons

BURLEY, Sept. 3—Rep. Henry Dworshak, Republican candidate for U. S. senator, is opposed to permitting the entry of another 100,000 displaced persons from Europe into the United States, he said here today. Any further concessions, Dworshak declared, would result in an influx because this country already faces grave problems of unemployment.

"During the war about 250,000 displaced persons or refugees were admitted to the United States in violation of immigration laws," he said.

These developments were reported unofficially, because the state department has released no authentic information, he added.

"The United States is honeycombed with subversive isms and ideologies which are refelected in some radical labor centers," he asserted. "Inviting uncontrolled immigration at this time would merely aggravate this problem and probably make more difficult the formulation of policies which will insure the maximum production needed to stem inflationary trends."

Although congress has been criticized for passage of the Case bill, Dworshak said that "he had encountered many members of labor unions who believe that some regulatory laws are imperative, if labor and management are to compose their differences without strikes and uneconomic interruption of industry. Workers are beginning to realize that the public interest is paramount, and that little can be gained by defiance of the public welfare in stifling production."

Resident of Filer, 58, Passes Here

FILER, Sept. 3—Henry Harrison Rogers, 58, route two, Filer, died at 7:30 a. m. Sunday at Twin Falls county general hospital.

Mr. Rogers was born July 14, 1888, in Phillipsburg, Mo. He lived in Twin Falls county for the past nine years, coming here from Wichita, Kan. He was a member of the A. F. L. teamsters local in Twin Falls and was an auto mechanic.

Survivors are three sons, Odus Rogers, Wichita; Glen and Richard, Gooding; three brothers, Charles, Phillipsburg; Wilson, Wichita, and Ellis, Lamar, Mo.; four sisters, Mrs. Charles Powell, Mrs. Mary Bradley and Mrs. Lucy Ohan, all of Springfield, Mo., and Mrs. Sadie Chan, Phillipsburg.

Graveside rites were to be held at 4 p. m. today at Sunset memorial park. Burial will be under direction of Reynolds funeral chapel.

CAFE REOPENS

GLENNS FERRY, Sept. 3 — The former Townhouse cafe has been reopened by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Quist, Eden, under the name of Ferry cafe. A new kitchen has been installed and new coffee making equipment added. The cafe will operate on a 24 hour basis.
